LONDON, Sept. 25.—The Porte has notified the powers that it has issued the strictest orders to the army to respect the neutrality of Servia and Montenegro.

SPAIN.

THE REPLY TO THE NUNCIO'S NOTE EXPECTED SOON—THE MAGISTRATES TO BE LEFT FREE TO DEAL WITH THE BISHOPS.

MADRID, Sept. 24.—The ministerial newspapers announce that the Government will soon reply to the note of the Papal Nuncio. They say that no concessions will be made tending to prejudice the independence of the Magistrates in dealing with the Bishops, and especially with the Bishop of Seo de Urgel.

CARLISTS HEMMED IN BY ALFONSISTS AT VIELLA.

LONDON, Sept. 24.—The Times this morning publishes a special telegram from Bagnères de Luchon, France, containing the following: "Twenty-five hundred Carlists are blocked by 10,000 Alfonsists at Viella. They will probably be forced to cross the frontier at Pont du Roi. The Carlists at Gavarnie have been interned."

THE PAPAL NUNCIO AND HIS SUBSTITUTE.

MADRID, Sept. 24.—Mgr. Rapella is expected here to replace Cardinal Simeoni as Papal Nuncio. The latter leaves for Rome shortly.

THE CONTENTS OF THE NUNCIO'S CIRCULAR TO THE BISHOPS.

LONDON, Sept. 25.—The text of the circular addressed to the Spanish Bishops by the Papal Nuncio at Madrid is published. The Nuncio says he has been directed to communicate to the Bishops the substance of the protest sent by the Cardinal Secretary of State of the Holy See to the Spanish Government upon the Pope's attention being called to the toleration clauses in the new Constitution proposed for Spain.

FRANCE.

A MEETING IN PARIS TO INDORSE PARTICIPATION IN THE CENTENNIAL EXHIBITION.

PARIS, Sept. 24.—A crowded meeting, composed of the principal manufacturers of Paris, was held to-day for the purpose of inducing participation in the Philadelphia Exhibition, and of furthering the interests of exhibitors. M. Dietz-Monnin, member of the National Assembly for Paris, presided, and delivered an address, in the course of which he took occasion to refute the insinuations thrown out by some German newspapers that goods on exhibition in Philadelphia might be liable to sequestration. He insisted upon the necessity for French participation in the Exhibition. A resolve was unanimously adopted declaring that the representation of French manufactures at Philadelphia is to the interest of France in a patriotic as well as an economic sense, and the meeting engages itself to do all in its power to attain this object.

DEATH OF MME. LOUISE FARRENC.

PARIS, Sept. 24.—Mme. Jeanne Louise Farrenc, the celebrated musician and composer, is dead. She was in her seventy-second year.

GAMBETTA ON THE BONAPARTISTS AND THE POLITICAL PARTIES.

VIENNA, Sept. 24.—M. Gambetta was interviewed while in Vienna by a correspondent of the Presse.

He said he was not uneasy with regard to party divisions or Bonapartist and monarchical intrigues. The number of Bonapartist Deputies might at most be doubled in the next Assembly, but they would be unable to seize the government or tamper with the army.

TRIAL OF GEORGE D. LORD.

ARGUMENT OF COUNSEL ON THE STATUTE OF LIMITATION.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 24.—The hearing of the argument in the case of George D. Lord, charged with bribery, came up before the Superior Court, Criminal Term, this afternoon. On the question raised by the special plea of the statute of limitation, offered by the defendant's counsel, District Attorney Lockwood moved to strike out the plea, and this being regarded as a demurrer, argument proceeded on this motion. The counsel for Mr. Lord argued that the act of 1860, being the one in force when the offense is alleged to have been committed, the act of 1873, extending the time within which an indictment could be found, did not apply to this case.

District Attorney Lockwood argued in reply that the law of 1873 took all criminal cases where it found them. If the three years allowed by the law of 1860 had elapsed before this indictment was found, there could be no prosecution under the indictment. But the criminal status had not been changed. He had not become exempt from punishment, and the State could not enter into a contract with a criminal which should afford him immunity. Judge Clinton desired the attorneys to submit their briefs, and will render his decision on Tuesday afternoon.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 24.—Ex-Canal Commissioner Alexander Barkley was this forenoon arraigned in the Superior Court, under the joint indictment found against himself, George D. Lord, Lewis J. Bennett, Thad. C. Davis, and William H. Bowman, for conspiracy to defraud the State. He entered a plea of not guilty, and gave bail in the sum of $5,000. Charles A. Donaldson, of Fultonville, became his surety.

THE GRAND LODGE OF ODD-FELLOWS

THE WORK OF YESTERDAY'S SESSION AT INDIANAPOLIS.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 24.—The session of the Grand Lodge of the I. O. O. F. to-day was largely taken up with routine work. The Grand Lodge has accepted an invitation to hold their next session in Philadelphia. The credentials of Representatives Tyler and Stiles were reported upon favorably, and they were admitted to seats in the Grand Lodge.

It was decided that after a subordinate lodge had become defunct for five years, the funds surrendered by it shall pass into the treasury of the Grand Lodge.

The Grand Sire and Grand Secretary were empowered to take such action in regard to incorporation of the Grand Lodge of the United States as they may deem necessary.

A charter was granted for a Grand Lodge in Dakota Territory, provided no expense shall be incurred by the supreme body until ten subordinate lodges are instituted.

A committee was appointed to ascertain the condition of the Rebekah degree throughout the national jurisdiction, and report at the next session.

An extra session of the Grand Lodge was held last night, at which Deputy Grand Sire Parke, of the Sandwich Islands, addressed the Grand Lodge in some general remarks, thanking them for courtesies extended and expressing a wish for their future prosperity.

A COLLISION IN NEWPORT HARBOR.

THE NAVAL STEAMER NINA CRUSHES IN THE SIDE OF THE SCHOONER JOSEPH HENRY.

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 24.—This forenoon the United States steamer Nina, stationed at the torpedo station, went outside with the class of Lieutenant Commanders on board. The schooner Joseph Henry, recently ordered to the station for torpedo practice, followed, having on board the Lieutenants of the station for the purpose of having a mock battle with the Nina, the latter having the Harvey torpedo in tow. The Nina was to make every effort to strike the Joseph Henry with a dummy Harvey torpedo. The Nina was chasing the schooner on the wind, and the latter, in order to avoid her tacked across the Nina's bow, but, finding that she was coming into too close quarters, wore across her bow instead. The Nina, not expecting her to hold her wind, attempted to pass under her stern, but the schooner in wearing across her bow prevented it. The engineer, to prevent the collision, which was inevitable, was ordered to stop and reversed the engine, which was done, but it was to late to prevent the Nina striking. She struck he about abreast the mainmast, crushing her side in and causing her to leak rapidly.

Lieut. Swinburn, on board the schooner, was knocked overboard by the shock, but was quickly rescued from his perilous position by a boat from the Nina. The schooner stood off for the west side of Rose Island, where she was beached in seven feet of water. The Nina followed her, and as soon as she struck sent a boat alongside and took off the Lieutenants and crew. She was stripped of her sails and rigging, but it is not expected that the vessel will be worth raising, she being very old and rotten in some places, and valued at about fifteen thousand dollars. The collision was in full sight of her Britannic Majesty's ship Bellerophon, and the officers and midshipmen on her deck were interested spectators of the manœuvring of both vessels, from the fact that the torpedo which was being experimented with was invented by an Englishman. The Bellerophon has two of these torpedoes on board.

THE DISASTERS IN TEXAS.

MISSING FAMILIES RESCUED—RELIEF MEASURES IN THE INTERIOR.

GALVESTON, Texas, Sept. 24.—Mrs. Herndon and family, reported lost at Velasco, are safe. Dr. Alexander and family, reported lost near Lynchburg, are saved. They lost everything except what they had on. A special dispatch from San Antonio dated yesterday, says that the storm which blasted the coast did no damage there, and very little rain fell. The wind blew a perfect gale.

The citizens of San Antonio in a public meeting to-day appointed a committee of thirty to solicit subscriptions for the relief of the stricken people of Indianola and other places. The committee consists of the most prominent citizens and clergy, and good results are expected. The military telegraph line was completed here yesterday and is working from Fort Clark.

A dispatch from Austin to the News says that the contributions for the relief of the sufferers on the coast will reach $2,500.

The Adjutant General telegraphs to the Secretary of War asking if Government aid, as in the Alabama overflow, can be extended to Texas. The Secretary of War replies that the Texas district inundated does not lie within the scope of the country included in the law authorizing aid by the War Department, and he can render no assistance.

DAMAGE TO RAILROADS AND INTERRUPTION TO THE MAILS.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—A letter was received at the Post Office Department to-day from Postmaster Sabin, of Galveston, Texas, stating that the late storm has so injured the railroads as to seriously interfere with the regular transmission of the mails in that section. Acting Second Assistant Postmaster General French replied directing him to make the best mail arrangements possible until the railroads could be repaired.

DECLINE IN TONNAGE AT QUEBEC.

QUEBEC, Sept. 24.—The number of sea-going vessels entered inward from the opening of navigation to date, including 146 from the lower ports, was 762, and the number of clearances, including 112 for the lower ports, 702, leaving sixty vessels in port. Three hundred and seven vessels have been licensed for the legal trade of the province. The arrivals to date number 171 vessels, or 147,327 tons less than at the same date last year.

THE FALL CAMPAIGN.

THE DEMOCRATIC STATE COMMITTEE.

MR. BEACH DECLINES RE-ELECTION AS CHAIRMAN—DANIEL MAGONE, JR., ELECTED—OTHER OFFICERS APPOINTED—APPOINTMENT OF AN EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept 24.—The Democratic State Central Committee met at the Delevan House this afternoon. All the members were present except Francis Nolan, James G. Preston, Darius Ogden, and Wm. H. Henderson. R. R. Crowley appeared for the latter.

Hon. A. C. Beach, Chairman of the committee, stated that the first business in order would be the election of a permanent Chairman. He said: Permit me at this juncture to say that my private affairs demand so much of my time and attention that it will be impossible for me to accept a re-election as Chairman of the State Committee. Last year, as you will recollect, I reluctantly took the chairmanship, and, unfortunately, I found it impossible to give it that personal attention involved in a thorough and successful conduct of the canvass. I shall also be unable to give it that attention this Fall, and so thanking you, gentlemen of the committee, for past honors and confidences, I respectfully but positively decline a re-election to the position of Chairman. I urge upon you all, however, the necessity for active, vigilant work in behalf of the admirable ticket put in nomination at Syracuse. It is the ticket of genuine reform and as such should have the support of Democrats and all others opposed to corruption in any form. The great and important reforms which have been inaugurated not only receive my warm and earnest sympathy, but must have the co-operation of every honest citizen in order not only to secure the purification, but the preservation of our Government, State and Federal. The friends of administrative purity everywhere throughout the State should rally enthusiastically to the support of the movement. While, as I have said, I cannot give the time to the canvass, which, as Chairman, I should feel was demanded of me, I shall do all in my power in the ranks to elect so good a ticket on so excellent a platform.

Edward Cooper moved that the committee proceed to elect a Chairman, which was carried, and Daniel Magone, Jr., was unanimously elected.

On motion of Mr. Fairchild, E. K. Apgar was appointed permanent Secretary.

On motion of J. B. Pearsall, Edward Cooper was appointed Treasurer.

A letter was received through Col. Pelton, conveying an invitation from Gov. Tilden to the committee to visit him at his mansion this evening, which invitation was accepted.

Mr. Fairchild moved that the Chair appoint an Executive Committee of nine to take charge of the approaching canvass. This was carried, and the Chair appointed the following: Allen C. Beach, Joseph Warren, Sidney T. Fairchild, William W. Gordon, J. B. Pearsall, William A. Fowler, John Kelley, Charles H. Benedic, William Purcell.

On motion of Mr. Apgar, the Chairman of the State Committee was added and made Chairman of the Executive Committee.

On motion of Mr. Apgar, D. S. Lamont, of Cortland County, was made Clerk of the State Committee.

Mr. Fairchild moved that Albany be made the head-quarters of the committee. Carried.

On motion of Mr. Apgar, each member of the State Committee was requested to assume the responsibility of the management of the canvass in his district, and make prompt reports when called upon by the committee to do so.

Adjourned.

ADDRESS OF THE DEMOCRATIC STATE COMMITTEE TO THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 24.—The Democratic State Central Committee have issued the following address:

DEMOCRATIC REPUBLICAN STATE COMMITTEE
ROOMS, ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 24, 1875.

To the Citizens of New-York:

The Democratic Liberal Republican State Central Committee invite you to a patriotic and congenial duty. The fundamental principles of our organization need not be rehearsed. They are embodied in the Constitution of our Commonwealth and in that of the Federal Union, and stand unchallenged by our opponents as the creed of the true American. At the present time we ask your attention to the measures not only proposed, but in actual progress. Standing on a platform of a currency to be made as good as gold, we point to diminishing debt and reduced taxation. Standing firmly by an Executive who has resolutely exposed and is systematically punishing fraud and corruption, we ask for him and the organization he represents, practical aid, that there may be no step backward in the work of reform. To this end it is of the first importance that none but upright men shall be elected to the Legislature, and that all candidates for municipal and county offices shall be above suspicion of personal or official crime. It is not enough that our excellent State ticket be successful. The cleansing should pervade the whole system of the body politic. By the terms of the call which assembled the State Convention in conformity with the action of that convention, and speaking in a representative capacity for the citizens who elected Gov. Tilden, since reinforced by many thousands who now indorse his acts, we appeal to the friends of a pure and economical Government to co-operate in this great political reformation.

Signed, for the committee,
D. MAGONE, Jr., Chairman.
E. K. APGAR, Secretary.

GREAT REPUBLICAN MEETING IN COLUMBUS, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Sept. 24.—The Republicans held a large meeting in the Opera-house in this city to-night, which was addressed by Gen. Stewart L. Woodford, of New-York, and Hon. J. C. Burrows, of Michigan. Woodford's speech was confined to financial questions, and was received with great favor. The Democratic State Committee has refused to permit Gen. Cary to hold a joint discussion with Gen. Woodford, as was proposed by the Republican Committee.

REPUBLICAN SENATORIAL NOMINATION.

PORT BYRON, N. Y., Sept. 24.—Hon. William B. Woodin was nominated for Senator in the Twenty-fifth District at the Republican Senatorial Convention held here to-day.

THE MASSACHUSETTS GOVERNORSHIP.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Sept. 24.—The Holyoke Republicans at their caucuses to-night elected a majority of delegates in favor of the nomination of Charles Francis Adams for Governor.

The interest in the forthcoming Republican State Convention increases as the reports of the election of delegates from the various towns come in. It is impossible to give a correct estimate of the preferences of the delegates, but it is generally conceded that thus far the Rice men are in the majority. Of the 581 delegates reported, careful inquiry gives Rice 242, Loring, 187, and unpledged, 152, about 50 of whom prefer Adam.

DEMOCRATIC JUDICIAL NOMINATION.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 24.—The Democrats of the Third Judicial District nominated Judge A. Melville Osborn for Judge. Judge Osborn is the present incumbent by appointment. There were five ballots.

PLAISTED'S MAJORITY IN THE FOURTH MAINE CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT.

BANGOR, Me., Sept. 24.—Nearly complete returns of the vote in the Fourth Congressional District give Plaisted (Republican) a majority of 977.

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATES INDORSED.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 24.—At a meeting of the Committee of Sixty-two of the Union League to-night, a report was adopted in which the Republican candidates for Governor, State Treasurer, and Judge of the Common Pleas were indorsed. The city nominations, except the last above-mentioned, were not, however, indorsed.

THE CASE OF WESTERVELT.

HIS COUNSEL'S REASONS FOR ASKING A NEW TRIAL.

From Our Own Correspondent.

PHILADELPHIA, Friday, Sept. 24, 1875.

Messrs. Joseph T. Ford and I. Newton Brown, counsel for William H. Westervelt, to-day filed their reasons for a new trial in their client's case. This was done in pursuance of the motion made by Mr. Ford on Monday last, when the defendant was convicted. The reasons number fifty-eight, and are very voluminous. A large part of the document is devoted to the questions which were put to Superintendent Walling, of New-York, by the Commonwealth's attorney, Mr. Hagert. It is held that all of Walling's testimony, other than the facts which he was called to prove, namely, "that Westervelt pretended to furnish reliable information to the authorities, but at the same time was notifying Mosher and Douglass of the movements of the authorities," has no bearing on the case.

It is held that the court erred in allowing the Commonwealth's officer to state before the jury that the testimony of the defendant and his wife must be considered with some allowance, since one is the prisoner and the other his wife, and codefendant in the same bill of indictment. Also that David Poorley's testimony, which was brought in as rebuttal, should have been used in the examination in chief of the Commonwealth, as the District Attorney had it in his possession in time for using. The testimony of each witness is taken piecemeal, and ground of error found.

The argument, it is supposed, will not take place for some days, as Judge Elcock is sitting at Common Pleas, and his pleasure in the matter will have to be consulted.

INCREASED RAILROAD FREIGHTS.

MEETING OF GENERAL FREIGHT AGENTS OF ROADS EAST OF CHICAGO—INCREASED FREIGHT RATES AGREED ON.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

CHICAGO, Sept. 24.—The general freight agents of the Eastern railway lines met here this afternoon to consider the advisability of advancing rates from Chicago to New-York and other Eastern points. The Michigan Central, Lake Shore and Michigan Southern, Pittsburg and Fort Wayne, Baltimore and Ohio, and the Pittsburg, Cincinnati and St. Louis Roads were represented. It was proposed to immediately advance the rate on fourth-class freight from thirty to thirty-five cents per 100 pounds on merchandise to New-York, and a proportionate increase to Boston, Philadelphia, and Baltimore. The railroad men did not look upon this idea with favor, and the proposition was defeated. They, however, adopted the following new rate, to take effect Oct. 1: Fourth class, 35 cents; grain, 30 cents; box meats, 40 cents; bulk meats, 45 cents; seeds, 50 cents; flour, 70 cents, per 100 pounds. There will be a corresponding advance in rates from St. Louis and other South-western points, to take effect the same day.

AN ELOPEMENT IN TRENTON.

A PROMINENT CITIZEN ELOPES WITH A YOUNG WIDOW.

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 24.—It is currently reported here this evening that a well-known real estate and banking man named Quintus Curtius Shuler, of this city, has eloped with a sprightly young widow named Coleman. Shuler is about forty years of age, and has a wife and one child living. He was formerly a resident of Warren County, and for some years back has been connected with the firm of Freeze, Shuler & Co., of this city. He had sold a $1,800 mortgage and other property belonging to his wife just before he started. It is supposed that he took about thirty thousand dollars in ready money with him. His inamorata has one boy living.

The affair has created quite a sensation here on account of the well-known social standing of Shuler, who is quite a prominent politician and sporting man. Where they have gone to is a mystery; but one thing is certain, they are not in the city to-night. Shuler was compelled to sever his connection with the firm of Freeze & Co. yesterday, and this, coupled with other circumstances touching the affair, give it increased credibility. It is the subject of universal comment here this evening.

A SHOCKING STORY.

TESTIMONY OF MRS. SCHELL AGAINST HER HUSBAND REGARDING THE MURDER OF MISS LAUGHLIN.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 24.—A special dispatch to the Gazette from Bellefontaine says: "Mrs. Schell, wife of the man arrested yesterday for the murder of Miss Laughlin near Belle Centre on Wednesday, was arrested to-day, and testified before the Coroner that her husband had told her he intended to ravish Miss Laughlin, and kill her afterward; that their ride on Wednesday was planned for that purpose, and that her husband threatened to kill her if she followed him when he went into the bushes with Miss Laughlin. She says he returned to the wagon in about two hours, stating that Miss Laughlin fought so hard he did not succeed in ravishing her, although after he had stabbed her she said, Don't kill me, Jim; I won't resist any more; but he feared she would tell, and so killed her, threatening also to kill his wife if she told of it. Mrs. Schell also testified to other crimes committed by her husband. The affair causes intense excitement, business is suspended, and it is reported that several hundred citizens of the surrounding country are coming into Bellefontaine to-night determined to lynch Schell. Many wagon-loads have already arrived. The Sheriff has summoned a strong posse, who are guarding the jail, but trouble is expected before morning."

Later.—About 300 men attacked the jail at Bellefontaine, Ohio, about 12:30 o'clock to-night, and battered down the doors and dragged Schell out and hanged him to a tree. The guards made no resistance. Schell protested his innocence of the crime.

A PROMINENT RAILROAD MAN MISSING.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 24.—Albert W. Markley, Esq., of Camden, N. J., a prominent railroad official, has mysteriously disappeared, and fears are entertained that he has either met with foul play or committed suicide. He left home Thursday morning at 8 o'clock, proceeded toward Market Street Ferry, Camden, and from that point all trace of him is lost. Before leaving home he divested himself of his watch, pocket-book, diamonds, and even went so far as to take the gold button from his collar. The family this evening were greatly distressed. He is very wealthy. His wife informed a friend who called that her husband had been greatly depressed in spirits for about three weeks past, but for what reason she could not divine. He was connected with the old Camden and Amboy Railroad régime for years, and was a well-known lobbyist both at Trenton and Washington. Mr. Markley was a great friend of President Grant, and generally accompanied the President and made the arrangements for all his extended tours. His interests of late have been transferred to the Pennsylvania Railroad. In company with Hon. Samuel Moon, he is a familiar person to the majority of the Congressmen. The theory is that he has drowned himself. He is 5 feet 10 inches high, florid complexion, and weighs about two hundred and ten pounds.

IMPORTANT WILL CONTEST.

A MICHIGAN MILLIONAIRE'S ESTATE INVOLVED.

CAPT. E. B. WARD'S DOMESTIC RELATIONS—DIVORCED FROM AN OLD WIFE AND MARRIED TO A YOUNG ONE IN SIXTY DAYS—THE FIRST WIFE'S CHILDREN TREATED IN HIS WILL AS INSANE—THE WILL ATTACKED—BANEFUL EFFECTS OF SUBJECTION TO SPIRIT MEDIUMS.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 24.—Capt. Eber B. Ward, the leading millionaire and capitalist of this State, and a man interested in manufacturing, mining and lumbering operations throughout the North-west, fell dead from apoplexy upon our streets in January last, at the age of sixty-three. He left an estate which inventoried at $5,000,000, and was encumbered with $1,000,000 of debts. He also left five adult children, by a wife now deceased, from whom he was divorced, two of whom are lunatics. He left also a young widow, to whom he was married several years ago, and two infant children. The widow is remotely connected with the family of ex-Senator Wade. His will was made within the last few years, and two codicils are attached thereto, each materially changing its terms. The final disposition of his property was this: To Mrs. Ward and her children he bequeathed many thousands of acres of pine lands and several first-class lumber-mills in and about Ludington, in this State, free from all incumbrance, its total value being about two millions; the residue of his estate was left to the other group of children, subject, however, to the permanent administration of various executors named by him, who were to pay stated allowances only to these heirs, who themselves were never to obtain access to the principal.

These last provisions were plainly dictated by the idea that none of these children were capable of managing property.

The children of the first marriage at once attacked the validity of the will, and eminent counsel were retained by both parties. After repeated unavailing attempts to compromise the matter on any basis, it was carried to the courts, the general management of the estate being meanwhile placed in the hands of special administrators, consisting of four leading business men of Detroit. Last week a picked jury was impaneled in our Circuit Court to try the cause, and on Tuesday actual trial began.

The will is upheld by a strong array of counsel, including Wirt Dexter, of Chicago; D. Darwin Hughes, of Grand Rapids, and Ashley Pond, of this city; and the attack is led by Theodore Romeyn, of Detroit. The first three days of the trial were occupied in simply examining the witnesses who signed the will and its codicils, and thus in establishing a prima facie case in its favor. Yesterday and to-day the contestants have unfolded their cause, stirring profoundly with its sensational features this community, of which Capt. Ward was for twenty years and at the time of his death the foremost business man.

Mr. Romeyn announced that the validity of the will would be resisted on the following grounds: First, Capt. Ward's naturally insane tendencies. In this connection he brought in the dead man's genealogy, and gave a formidable list of idiots and lunatics among his near relatives and in his own family, among whom the inherited mania had repeatedly assumed murderous and suicidal forms. Second, The testator's belief in spiritualism, which was an insane delusion with him, and which dictated the form of this will. Mr. Romeyn promised to prove that Capt. Ward bought property and sold it because spirits told him to; that he consulted them in important lawsuits; that he sent out expedition after expedition in search of silver on the advice of these spirits; judged of men's honesty in the same manner; that he supported "mediums" for his private use in business matters; that he drove one of his sons to suicide by charging him with bastardy on the strength of some spiritualistic declaration; that his resistance to Senator Chandler's re-election was due to information from mediums that the Senator's mind had failed, and that the present will was made under pretended instructions of the spirit of his last wife's father. A long array of prominent mediums are here as witnesses, including one of the Fox girls and Henry Slade, of New York. Third, Undue influence on the part of his young wife. Mr. Romeyn promised to prove that the wife of Capt. Ward's prime was an estimable woman, who in time lost her vigor and became paralytic. He became acquainted with his last wife, yielded to her attractions, and then plotted one of the most infamous divorces in history. A woman was procured and placed in a house prepared beforehand, and a witness was provided who, by prearrangement found Capt. Ward in her bed-chamber. His wife, sick in her bed, at home, was then made to figure as complainant in a suit for divorce on the ground of adultery. Eight days thereafter a divorce was granted without publicity, and within sixty days he married this other woman, and she was installed as mistress of his house. Prior to this divorce Capt. Ward met his present widow in another city. The now Mrs. Ward was asked to visit at his homestead, showing that this last marriage was in contemplation at that time. Mr. Romeyn further charged that the undue influence of his last wife over her elderly husband was shown by the manner in which he permitted her to treat her step-children, she even breaking off the marriage of his daughter by writing anonymous letters to the gentleman, urging the danger of allying himself with a family of such insane tendencies.

As yet but little testimony has been adduced to bear out these charges, as the first attempt to put the mediums on the witness-stand was followed by objections on the ground that a belief in spiritualism involved no more proof of insanity than would any other form of religious faith, and this issue has been argued at great length by counsel, but has not yet been decided by the court. The popular interest in the trial all through this region is of the deepest character.

DEFRAUDING THE REVENUE.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 24.—The case of Adler & Co., of St. Joseph, Mo., who are charged with emptying certain barrels of whisky without canceling the stamps, came up yesterday in the United States District Court for the Western District of Missouri, now in session at Jefferson City. Quite a number of witnesses were examined, and so far as the case progressed the testimony showed that about two hundred barrels of spirits, received from Sheahan & Sons' distillery, were emptied at Adler & Co.'s rectifying-house, and some barrels returned to the distillery with the stamps not canceled were refilled with spirits, and again sold with the old stamps upon them, thus defrauding the Government out of about eight thousand dollars.

EXTENSIVE LAND DEED FORGERIES.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 24.—R. K. Turner, who has been accused heretofore of extensive forgeries of deeds, was taken from Quincy, Ill., yesterday, to California, Mo., on a requisition from Gov. Hardin. He is charged with forging a deed to about twenty thousand dollars' worth of land two years ago, and it is expected that some startling developments will be made at his trial, which will begin next Monday.

THE REPORTED EPIDEMIC AT MEMPHIS.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 24.—During the past few days letters and telegrams have been received here inquiring if there was any epidemic prevailing here. For the information of all concerned, it can be safely asserted that this city was never more healthy than at present, and there has been nothing like an epidemic of any kind during the year.

DAMAGES AGAINST A RAILROAD COMPANY.

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 24.—In the Howard County Circuit Court, in the case of Mrs. Hogan vs. the Cumberland and Pennsylvania Railroad Company, the jury on Wednesday brought in a verdict for $8,000 in favor of the plaintiff. The suit was for damages for the killing of the husband of plaintiff by the explosion of a locomotive on defendant's road some time since, at Westernport. It was first brought in the Allegheny Circuit Court for $20,000 damages, and removed thence to the Howard County Court.

THE AGRICULTURAL CONGRESS.

YESTERDAY'S PROCEEDINGS AT CINCINNATI—THE INTERNAL TRANSPORTATION SCHEME COMMENDED—NEXT MEETING TO BE HELD IN PHILADELPHIA.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Sept. 24.—In the morning session of the National Agricultural Congress, Mr. Burwell, of Virginia, from the Committee on Transportation, reported resolutions commending the completion of the four great water routes recommended by the United States Senate Committee, especially commending the central route. After some discussion the resolutions were adopted.

Dr. J. M. Gregory, Regent of the Illinois Industrial University, delivered an able address on the real obstacles to agricultural education.

Prof. Townshend, of the Ohio Agricultural College, followed in a brief address, indorsing the position of Dr. Gregory.

The hour for adjournment approaching, the address of Prof. Abbot, of the Michigan Agricultural College, was passed without reading.

W. P. Burwell called up the resolutions offered by him yesterday, on the taxation of tobacco. After an extended discussion by Messrs. Killibrew and Worthington, of Tennessee; Townshend, Milliken, and Inis, of Ohio, and Mr. Duncan, of Illinois, they were adopted.

After brief addresses, and the passage of the usual complimentary resolutions, the congress adjourned to meet in Philadelphia next year, the date to be fixed by the Executive Committee.

A letter was read from Mayor Johnston, inviting the congress to convene again at Cincinnati, and expressing regret at his being unable to be present.

A nominal salary was voted the Secretary for the forthcoming year.

THE WEATHER.

SYNOPSIS AND PROBABILITIES.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25—1 A. M.—The barometer continues high, but has fallen slightly in the districts on the Atlantic coast, with light or gentle winds, generally clear weather, and a slight rise of temperature. Generally clear and warmer weather prevails in the district east of the Mississippi River, with southerly to westerly winds, and a slight rise of temperature. Light rains are reported from the South-west, Minnesota, and near Lake Superior. The barometer has risen in the North-west, with northerly to westerly winds, and cooler and partly cloudy weather. The Mississippi River has fallen slightly below Cairo. The Ohio has risen nine inches at Cincinnati and fallen nine inches at Pittsburg.

PROBABILITIES.

For New-England, the Middle States, and the lower lake region, generally clear weather and a slight rise of temperature, with southerly to westerly winds, and stationary or slowly falling barometer.

For the South Atlantic and Eastern Gulf States, clear or fair weather, north-east to south-east winds, slowly falling barometer, slight changes in temperature, and light rains near the Gulf coast.

For the south-west, areas of rain, followed by cooler weather, northerly to easterly winds, increasing in force, and continued high barometer.

For Tennessee and the Ohio Valley, partly cloudy weather, southerly to westerly winds, falling followed by rising barometer, and cooler weather.

Frosts will probably occur in the North-west during Saturday night.

IN THIS CITY.

The following record shows the changes in the temperature for the past twenty-four hours, in comparison with the corresponding date of last year, as indicated by the thermometer at Hudnut's pharmacy:

	1874.	1875.		1874.	1875.
3 A. M.	59°	47°	3:30 P. M.	77°	67°
6 A. M.	59°	46°	6 P. M.	71°	62°

MURDEROUS ASSAULTS.

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Sept. 24.—Last night about 6 o'clock, William Pierce shot Whitman Trescott in the town of Chili. Five balls entered Trescott's body, but it is thought that he is not fatally injured. Pierce escaped. He is about thirty or thirty-five years of age, and was formerly a bartender at Charlotte.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 24.—A special to the Appeal from Helena, Ark., says: "During the latter part of last Fall two men named Deason and Strader had a difficulty at Forest City, Ark., in which Deason shot Strader in the arm, necessitating amputation. To revenge himself Strader went to Deason's house last night for the purpose of shooting him. Having reached the house Strader went to one of the windows, raised his shot-gun and fired, missing Deason, but emptying the contents of the gun in a young man, nineteen years of age, named Thomas Houton, killing him instantly. Strader then fled, and is supposed to be making his way to North Carolina, where he formerly resided."

MOVEMENTS OF THE PRESIDENT.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 24.—President Grant and wife, accompanied by ex-Secretary Borie and wife, Gen. Babcock, and Col. Fred. Grant and wife, arrived here about noon, and are quartered at the Lindell Hotel. The President will visit his farm to-morrow and arrange for the sale of his stock, and leave for Des Moines, Iowa, Monday evening, to be present at the soldiers' reunion there. The party will then start for Denver via Omaha and Cheyenne.

HORSE JOCKEY INJURED.

WORCESTER, Mass., Sept. 24.—At the races of the County Fair this afternoon a collision occurred on the track. Bowman, the colored driver of the horse owned by Mr. B. Edwards, of Worcester, was dragged several hundred yards and badly injured. The horse, with fragments of the sulky, ran through the teams of the spectators, wrecking half a dozen. Nobody else was hurt.

ALLEGED SWINDLING BY A LAWYER.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 24.—S. Adler, a Police Court lawyer, was arrested to-day for false pretenses in obtaining $42 from one George Kress, by false representation that he had to pay that amount to Police Justice King to influence his decision in a case of arson. Adler was formerly of Baltimore, Md., and Troy, N. Y.

THE NORTH AMERICAN RAILWAY.

BANGOR, Me., Sept. 24.—The Committee of Investigation into the condition of the European and North American Railway held a meeting here yesterday. They have agreed upon their report, and propose to call a meeting of the creditors for Tuesday, Oct. 5. The committee feel confident that they can present such a plan as the creditors will accept.

MYSTERIOUS EXPLOSION.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Sept. 24.—An explosion in the variety store of J. M. Gregory, at Ellsworth, Conn., yesterday, blew out the side of the building, causing damage by explosion and fire to the amount of $1,500. The cause of the explosion is a mystery, a quantity of gunpowder in the store not having exploded.

THE NATIONAL LIFE AND TRUST COMPANY.

NEW-HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 24.—To-day President B. Noyes, of the National Life and Trust Company, was acquitted of three criminal charges alleging violation of the statute in refusing information to Commissioner Stedman.

A FOURTEEN YEARS' SENTENCE.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 24.—In the Superior Court this afternoon, George Nagle pleaded guilty to grand larceny and was sentenced to Auburn prison for fourteen years.

THE HAYDEN SURVEY.

A RESCUE EXPEDITION.

AFTER THE BATTLE—AN EXPEDITION TO BRING IN THE "BOYS" LEFT AT THE SUPPLY CAMP—CHARGE UPON A LONE HORSE—THE "BOYS" FOUND SAFE—A SAMPLE OF UTE CUNNING.

From Our Special Correspondent.

BETWEEN THE GUNNISON AND DOLORES,
Wednesday, Sept. 1, 1875.

After the little affair between the Hayden surveying parties and the Sierra la Sal Indians on the 15th and 16th ult., the first thought of the former was for the safety of the two boys left in the supply camp on the Dolores. From the scene of the disturbance the camp was about thirty-five or forty miles, and therefore not more than a day's ride to the well-mounted nomads who infest this region, and what was worse, it was established beside one of the main trails to the southern country where all these Indians go to trade with the Navajos. It was remembered that the Indian camp we had looked down on from the Sierra had been increased by five additional tepees the day before the party left the mountain slopes, and if that band had come along the Dolores trail, then, without doubt, the survey was short of two members. Supposing they had not, and that the boys were still safe, it was important that they be brought out with the least possible delay. Kelsey and McCreery offered to go in alone and do it, but Mr. Gardner declined to allow this. He wanted six men. Eight volunteered, and the party as selected consisted of the original Gardner division of the survey, with the substitution of McCreery for a former member of it who broke down in the fight. Such arms and ammunition as the mining camp of Parrottstown could supply were obtained, and each man was armed with a breech-loading rifle, except our hunter-cook, Charpiot, who despised anything but a double-barreled shot-gun. With some difficulty he obtained one, and when it was too late discovered that it was no good at all. Necessarily, we had nothing to ride except mules from our already tired-out herd; but the best of them were selected, and they carried us through well. Four pack-mules were loaded with three weeks' provisions, and no other baggage was carried except a frying-pan and two or three pots. The distance to be traveled was estimated at 260 miles, but it proved to be nearly 290.

Parrottstown from the Rio Mancus is fifteen miles. The Mancus from the point where the retreat commenced is about two hundred, and the country between is nothing but a dry wilderness cut up by deep cañons. Between Monday afternoon and Friday morning the ride across this wilderness was ended by the arrival at the mining camp; and from that time till the little rescue party started again, two days after, every moment was busily employed. There was not much rest for any one, but plenty of what all had been strangers to for nearly a week—of hard work, good water, and good food. With characteristic generosity the miners placed all they had at our disposal, and among it was abundance of fresh meat. As bacon or ham had been the pièce de résistance of our meals for six weeks past, fresh mutton was appreciated. With a hearty farewell to the open-hearted miners the party rode out of the "town" at sunset on Sunday, and later in the evening camped on the Mancus. Monday they struck across the country north-east, the trail lying high up in the hills, and in the afternoon reached the edge of a deep valley through which Bear Creek flows. This is the main fork of the Dolores, which, commencing in the San Juan range, flows first from east to west, and then sweeps round to the north, and empties into the Grand River. Tuesday the stream was followed up toward its source, and camp pitched almost immediately below the lofty peak of Mount Wilson. Wednesday the party struck north by east, left the head-waters of the Dolores, and crossed on to those of the San Miguel, in the Uncompagre range. This range was crossed on Thursday, and the Uncompagre River followed down into the valley of the same name. This descent took us from green hills and cool winds to the dry lands, alkaline soil, and impure water of the lower levels, and also to the site of the new Indian agency. The removal of the Los Pinos Agency to the Uncompagre Valley, in the heart of the Ute Reservation, was referred to in a former letter. A number of workmen are engaged putting up the new buildings. They expected our arrival. Two Indians had come in at noon and reported "heap white man coming—surveyors—one sick." The Indian indicated a bandage round the head, and pointed to the sun—meaning that the sick one was suffering from sunstroke. They knew the survey outfit, as it was the only one in the country mounted on mules; but the fact that they saw one of the party had his head bandaged (it was hurt by a fall from the saddle) showed that they must have been very near us. We did not see them, though it may well be believed the party did not travel without keeping a sharp lookout. They probably saw the train from some distant point, and crawled on foot to some ravine near the trail for closer inspection. It seemed from this that our movements were likely to be watched, and the more so that a short time after reaching the camp an Indian appeared on the bench above, evidently taking notes of the party. The workmen opened their eyes a little when they heard of our difficulty; but it was deemed advisable not to tell more of the present mission than that the party was on the way to Los Pinos, expecting to meet our supply train on the way. This was the truth, but not quite all of it. Next morning (Friday) the same Indian who had been observed on the watch came in at breakfast, accompanied by another. As we moved off, he interrupted something McCreery was saying with the abrupt inquiry: "Where you go?" The answer was one not calculated either to mollify or inform, and the party was riding down the valley before any other questions could be put. It was a hard forty-five mile ride that day, and the next threatened a harder one, for there was a thirty mile drive to be made up the Gunnison Valley over an absolutely dry alkali plain. By starting at daybreak the worst of this ride was made before the heat grew too much for comfort, and Saturday afternoon camp was made on the west side of the Gunnison, where a grove of cottonwoods offered good shade and lodging ground. As the party was now approaching what was regarded as doubtful ground, the guns were carefully cleaned, and some practice made at long ranges, judged to be "good Indian distance."

Almost from the bank of the Gunnison at this point, that great cross cañon in which the Gannett and Gardner parties met on the 5th of August cuts through for forty-five miles to the Dolores. It is simply a deep furrow in the plateau between those rivers, and the most direct route of travel from one to the other. Many trails cross it north and south, particularly toward its western end and there we looked for trouble, if any trouble was to be had. Fifteen miles down the cañon, and where it widens into a beautiful valley, was the little creek on which the two parties had camped together. To reach this place was an easy Sunday morning's ride, and just as Mr. Gardner was turning the point which gave a view of the spot, he suddenly pulled up his mule, signed to the others to keep back, and looked through his field-glasses. "There is an Indian horse feeding down there," he remarked, handing the glasses to Shep. Medera, who inspected the animal also. Some one suggested that it might be Holman's horse, and on re-examination this was found to be correct. Holman was the quartermaster at the supply camp, twenty miles below. How was it his horse was here? If any Indians were about, they were in camp on the other side of the line of trees along the creek, "and if they are," added the leader of the party, "we may as well go at them at once. Tie the pack mules in this brush—quick, boys, they may see us. Charpiot, you stay here. Now, boys, ready! Come on!" and out of the brush dashed the six, across the open, down to and past the astonished horse, into and through the creek and its fringe of brush and trees, and then pulled up on the other side. There was never an Indian, nor a sign of one! Our brave charge had been made on a solitary horse. Everybody laughed but Charpiot, who was enraged because he had been left out in the cold. To console him, Mr. Gardner consented to his accompanying the rest of the party down to the camp next day, which was a variation from the original programme.

At 3 next morning the party were eating breakfast, and as soon as there was light enough to see the trail the pack mules were made secure; each man put eighty rounds of ammunition in his belt and saddle pockets, and away they went on a sharp trot down the valley. It may be said that while all were prepared for one, none really expected a fight, because no fresh Indian sign had been seen anywhere along the trail, and as each cross trail was passed it was examined, but none of them showed any but old tracks. The assurance that the boys were safe had become almost complete, when, about two miles this side of their camp, the pony tracks of a numerous Indian party were observable in the sandy soil. They were only a few days' old, came in on a big trail from the north, and went toward the river. Full of anxiety, all pressed on at full speed till the river was reached, where the great cañon ended as it began—in a vast amphitheatre, across which the Dolores flows from south to north. Along so much of it as was visible, there was the usual fringe of cottonwoods, but no tents could be seen under any of them. Our shouts produced no response. The river was crossed, and the Indian tracks followed up on the other side toward a small grove. "Oh! boys, the deed's done!" cried McCreery, in a tone of mingled rage and despair. "They've scalped the boys, and there's where they burned the stuff they couldn't carry away," pointing to a large patch where the grass had been burned off. "No!" shouted Kelsey. "Here's fresh boot tracks!" And in another moment the whole party had rushed through the brush into the opening shadowed by the cottonwoods, and given a hearty cheer at the sight of the two tents and Mr. Holman and his young assistant standing in front of them—the latter looking rather scared, and the former with a rifle in his hand and a big revolver and bowie-knife buckled on his belt.

When the greetings and the explanation of this sudden visit had been briefly made, the Quartermaster explained that he had not answered the shouts, having mistaken them for those of Indians, and this impression had been confirmed when he saw a party of horsemen come flying along, whooping and yelling, in a cloud of dust, in which nothing was distinguishable but the flashing of their gun-barrels in the sun. Had he seen any Indians? Yes, a party of Utes, twenty or more, had come in a few days before from the White River Agency, they being on their way south to the Navajo country to trade. Mr. Holman having spent some months at that agency, knew many of his visitors personally, and addressed them by name when they came in. He was inclined to think that this fact saved him some unpleasantness, for the Indians were extremely angry at finding white men apparently established in this remote section, and exhibited much insolence of demeanor. They threatened that if he did not leave by to-morrow's sun they would "heap kill;" demanded food, which he refused; tobacco, which was also refused; and finally a drink of water, which was given them. They seemed to waver between a desire to do something and fears of its discovery if they did. As a specimen of shallow cunning, and what they would do if they dared, I may mention that one of the Indians asked Mr. Holman to write him a note, which ran to this effect:

"White man come in here—pretty soon pony get heap hungry—white man get heap hungry—pretty soon die. Tell Washington all right. Ute no kill him."

It was not till he had seen the Indian quietly slip this paper under the cover of the camp table that the thought flashed across him what it was intended for; and snatching it out, he ordered the fellow out of the tent and tore the paper to pieces. The whole band went off next morning, after hinting at the probable visit of certain Utes who would "heap scalp," and attempting to burn out the camp by firing the brush and grass about it. As a matter of course, the Indians had passes from their agency, stating that they were peaceable and well disposed, that they were on their way to the Navajo country to trade, "and though off their reservation," added the agent, "I hope they will not be molested." No other Indians but these had passed the camp. All things considered, this was fortunate, and also that our visit was not made at the same time as that of the gentlemen from White River. It was certainly not Mr. Gardner's desire to get into trouble with Indians known to be Utes, and for whose conduct the tribe is responsible to the authorities, but the orders given to his following that day practically amounted to "shoot at anything wearing a red blanket," and they would have been obeyed to the letter.

All harsh feelings, however, were forgotten in the pleasure of finding the boys safe, and every one fell to work with lighter heart than any had known for many days. One loose mule had been brought down, and this was packed with such things as were deemed desirable to preserve. Everything else, except what each man could carry away on his back, or in his saddle-pockets, was destroyed, so that it should not fall into the hands of the Indians. This task seemed peculiarly congenial to Charley McCurley, who declared it was the best thing he had struck since Sherman's raid. First he carefully "went through" the camp with an eye for what might be personally useful, and then raged around with a big axe, smashing and ripping things generally, and cursing the Indians with every stroke. In two hours nothing was left of the Supply Camp but what was blazing on a huge fire built where it had stood. "Mount, boys," said the leader of the party, and every man was in the saddle; "now give them a salute," and all the echoes slumbering in the cañons for a mile around were roused in sudden thunder with the simultaneous discharge of the rifles. While trotting back to camp some one suggested it, and after a festive dinner, at which four apple-pies figured, some brief resolutions of thanks to our commander were scribbled on a soiled fragment of note paper, and presented to him by Adams in a neat little speech. This practically ended the rescue expedition. It had been a rough one, but full of excitement. Two nights we had been nearly washed out of our blankets by heavy rains, one night had been almost frozen, two days had been long drives across a dry country, under a scorching sun, and every day had been in the saddle almost from sunrise to sunset.

A NEW SAFE DEPOSIT COMPANY.

A DESIDERATUM FOR UP-TOWN RESIDENTS—A SAFE AND WELL-CONSTRUCTED VAULT.

The Central Safe Deposit Company of the City of New-York, organized for the purpose of keeping valuables under guarantee and renting fire and burglar proof safes in compartments, will on Tuesday next formally open for business their office and safes in the new Masonic Temple. The company was organized to meet a demand for an establishment of this kind in the up-town district, and it is confidently expected that the facilities offered for the storage of all kinds of valuables will attract a sufficient business to make the venture a paying one. With this end in view, the most elaborate and careful preparations have been made for the absolute safety of the goods to be intrusted to the company for keeping.

The company has been organized with a capital of $100,000, the stockholders being liable to an equal sum in addition to their subscriptions. The officers are as follows:

Directors—Charles Roome, President Manhattan Gas Company; Darius R. Mangam, President National Trust Company; Edward V. Loew, President Manufacturers and Builders' Fire Insurance Company; George Pancoast, President Archer and Pancoast Manufacturing Company; Edward B. Bulkley, President Jefferson Iron Company; Alexander M. Lesley, President Trades Savings Bank; Thomas L. James, Postmaster, New-York; George E. Sterry, Weaver & Sterry, importers of drugs; William H. Howell, Howell, Barr & Co., sugar merchants; Archibald Hance, Superintendent Dry Dock, East Broadway and Belt Railroad Company; Ellwood E. Thorne.

Ellwood E. Thorne, President; Darius R. Mangam, Vice President; John P. Roberts, Secretary and Treasurer; William A. Frazer, Superintendent.

The quarters rented by the company are situated on the east side of the Masonic Temple, the entrance being on Twenty-third street. The store is 52 feet by 100, and the basement is enlarged by the vault built under the sidewalk. Nearly $100,000 have been expended in fitting up the place, the cost of the fire and burglar proof vaults alone being over half that sum, and it would be difficult to suggest a precaution that has been neglected or an improvement that would be possible.

The customer who would avail himself of the privileges offered by the company on entering the door finds himself in a semi-circular space, the curved partitions around which are of paneled black walnut work, about seven feet high, with an opening, crossed with fancy metal gates, over which he can see the rear part of the office, which is shut off by a high iron railing. Between the two street entrances is a small inclosure, with a writing-table and chairs, intended for the accommodation of the customers who may come. Behind the partition on the right-hand side is a ladies' toilet-room, fitted up with the elegance of a drawing-room. On the left are the offices of the President and Secretary of the company and the large office safe, designed for the reception of the books of the company, and containing two compartments for the temporary safe-keeping of such valuables as may be deposited after the inner vault shall have been closed for the night. When the inner vault is closed for the night it cannot, by the rules of the company, be opened until business hours the next day, excepting on emergencies. If through any circumstance it should be necessary to open it, it must be done by an officer of the company in the presence of two members of the Board of Directors.

The customer who makes application for a box in the safe of the company signs his name on a book kept for the purpose, is weighed, measured, and has his description entered on the books. If he empowers a deputy to open his box, the deputy goes through similar formalities to guard against impositions. Having been duly entered on the books, the customer is admitted to the rear part of the office. He enters through gates in the high iron fence which separates the front offices from the back. These gates can only be opened by an officer of the company. Behind them are the large two-story vault and a complete and elaborate system of offices and withdrawing rooms for the convenience of patrons having such business as coupon-clipping and the like to transact. These offices are so arranged that any one can pass out of them, but cannot enter unless admitted by the officer. In the rear are the Directors' room, the President's private office, and two large rooms to be used for the storage of pictures. The basement is reached by a staircase which is behind the railing mentioned. Here provision is made outside the vault for the storage of 6,000 trunks and an indefinite number of parcels, cases, &c.

The vault or safe, which is an independent building, having entrances on both stories, and consisting of two rooms, was built by the Hall's Safe and Lock Company of Cincinnati. The entire structure weighs nearly one thousand tons, and rests on a concrete foundation built directly on the bed of natural rock on which the temple stands. It is so built that the builder of the temple said, after examining it, that if the temple should fall on it it would stand with no injury beyond the ruin of the outside ornaments. The two rooms are practically two safes. That in the basement is designed to be used for the deposit of silver-plate and valuable packages of bulk. This safe is 26 feet wide, 16½ feet deep, and 11 feet high, inside measurement. The inside walls are of metal and the outside are of concrete and granite, and are considered absolutely fire-proof. The doorway is 7½ by 5 feet in size, guarded by a double set of massive doors of the most approved kind, constructed of concrete, iron, and drill-proof chrome and crystal steel. Each door is secured by twenty massive steel bolts highly polished and plated in gold, silver, and nickel, and shot by combination locks of various patterns.

The main safe is above, and is constructed with even more precautions against fire and burglars. It is the same size as the one below. The inner walls are composed of alternate plates of the best quality of drill-proof compound steel in thirty layers of carbonized metal. The plates are thirty inches wide, and are secured with conical bolts or arbors, which preclude the possibility of separating them with any known burglars' tools. The plates are jointed in sections, no two joints being opposite each other, and the plates are bent solid around the corners. So closely are these joints fitted that they are water-tight.

Surrounding these inner walls are walls of thirty inches thickness, composed of brick laid in Portland cement, and laid so as to compose numerous arches calculated to be capable of resisting almost any pressure that could be put on them. Outside of all this is another set of metal walls, burglar proof and highly ornamented. The entrance to this safe is 7½ by 4 feet and is guarded by six massive doors. Four of them are strictly burglar proof and two are fire and burglar proof. These doors vary in thickness from 3½ to 10 inches, and are secured by 120 heavy round bolts, and with patent combination and time locks.

The interior of this safe is to be used for boxes, which are to let for from $10 to $50 a year, according to size and location. An ingenious arrangement of these boxes precludes the possibility of a customer's leaving his box unlocked by mistake. Each box opens at the top, and cannot be shut and the key withdrawn without locking the box. If the box is left open, or the key left in it, it will not go into the compartment arranged for it, and the door of this compartment will not shut without locking.

The building is to be guarded, night and day, by armed men, and burglar-alarms are arranged, connecting with the residences of the officers of the company and with the Police stations. These alarms are set at every door and opening of any kind, and, in addition, a secret alarm has been arranged by means of which one of the officers of the company is able to tell at any moment in the night just where the inside watchman is walking.

The officers wish it to be understood that the company is in no sense a Masonic organization, the majority of the Board of Directors not being Masons. There is no connection of any kind between this company and the Masonic order or the hall and asylum fund.

RIFLE PRACTICE AT CREEDMOOR.

The range at Creedmoor was occupied yesterday by the several regiments in the First Brigade, under command of Lieut. Col. Cruger, of the Twelfth Regiment, assisted by Capt. T. V. Smith, of the Seventy-first, officer of the day; Lieut. Covell, of the Seventy-first, officer of the guard, and Lieut. T. D. Rich, of the Twelfth, as Adjutant of the day. The Twelfth paraded 71 men, under command of Capt. Brady, Adjt. Murphy Inspector of Rifle Practice; Twenty-second, 95 men, Capt. Topping commanding, Capt. Briggs Inspector of Rifle Practice; Sixty-ninth, 58 men, Capt. Keir commanding, Capt. Carton Inspector of Rifle Practice; Seventy-first, 111 men, Capt. See commanding, Adjt. Graham Inspector of Rifle Practice, and Seventy-ninth, 60 men, Capt. Clark commanding, Capt. Ross Inspector of Rifle Practice. Capt. Loomis, Inspector of Rifle Practice of the Twenty-second Regiment, superintended the firing of the corps. The number qualifying in the third to shoot in the second class was apportioned as follows: Twelfth, 45; Twenty-second, 42; Sixty-ninth, 33; Seventy-first, 44, and Seventy-ninth, 34. The order and discipline of the command was excellent, and no serious accident occurred to enlist the services of Dr. Robert Taylor, of the Twelfth Regiment, who was present as surgeon of the day.

THE BOOK TRADE.

A supplemental book fair will be held at the Book-sellers' Exchange, in Clinton Hall, on Oct. 21, and it will be continued for one week. The committee expect that the trade will be well represented, as the fair held in July last proved very successful. The rules governing the sales will be the same as those which were in force at the July meeting. The New-York firms who have consented to contribute are Messrs. Anson D. F. Randolph & Co., D. Appleton & Co., A. S. Barnes & Co., Harper & Brothers, James Miller, Scribner, Armstrong & Co., Scribner, Welford & Armstrong, Sheldon & Co., E. P. Dutton & Co., and R. Worthington & Co.

PROTECTING CRIMINALS.

THE ASSEMBLY COMMITTEE AT WORK.

MR. HESS WANTS TO SUSPEND THEIR SENIOR COUNSEL—THE OTHER MEMBERS DEFEND HIM—NO TESTIMONY OF IMPORTANCE TAKEN YESTERDAY.

The Assembly Committee on Crime resumed its sessions yesterday morning at the chamber of the Board of Aldermen, Mr. Thomas Cooper Campbell presiding. Messrs. Hess, McGowan, and Dessar were the other members of the committee in attendance. There was very little evidence adduced during the day bearing directly upon the matter for which the committee was appointed, and the main object of the examining counsel was plainly the obtainment of evidence tending to show inefficiency in the management of the District Attorney's office. This method of examination was observable also in former sessions of the committee, and the result was the charge Mr. Hess yesterday made against Mr. Townsend of improperly conducting the examination of witnesses. This charge was accompanied by a proposition on the part of Mr. Hess to suspend Mr. Townsend as counsel until after the determination of the charge of suborning witnesses preferred against him by Commissioner Disbecker, and it occasioned a lively discussion between the members of the committee and Mr. Townsend. The resolution offered by Mr. Hess was overruled, and on the proposition of Mr. McGowan a vote of confidence in Mr. Townsend was adopted.

The proceedings were opened by Mr. Hess, who offered the following preamble and resolution:

Whereas, A witness who testified before this committee, named Victor Bramsen, having, under oath, made grave charges against Mr. John D. Townsend, the senior counsel of this committee, before the Board of Police Commissioners, at an investigation heard before that board on the 22d inst., on the complaint against John H. McCullagh, Captain of Police, therefore

Resolved, That until Mr. Townsend appears before the tribunal where the charges were made, and answers the same adequately, his appointment by this committee be suspended.

In offering the resolution Mr. Hess said: "I present this resolution for your consideration as much in the interest of the committee as of the object for which the committee was appointed, and I assure you I have no feeling against Mr. Townsend, but am only actuated by a simple desire to have justice done to every one who appears before this committee. I have no reason to doubt that Mr. Townsend can explain them honestly and fairly, but until that is done I am sure I can't have entire confidence in our counsel."

The Chairman—I take it that this committee is the proper tribunal for any such charges to be heard before, and I for one am not willing to have Mr. Townsend suspended merely to gratify the Police Commissioners.

Mr. Hess—The charges were made before the Police Commissioners, and therefore it is the proper tribunal for the charges to be answered before.

Mr. Dessar suggested that Mr. Townsend be permitted to refute the charges. He was of the opinion that no charges were ever made against their counsel, for the matter was so vague and indefinite that it was not worth considering.

Mr. Hess—My responsibility here is as great as that of any member of this committee present, and I don't propose to sit here idle, and when I make a motion I want it treated courteously.

Mr. Dessar said that wherever the charges were made against Mr. Townsend that was the place to investigate them.

Mr. Townsend said: "As far as I understand this matter, there was an examination in the case of Capt. McCullagh held at Police Head-quarters, in which one of the witnesses testified to matters which I desired to have corrected. It seems to me there were no charges then made against me. When I receive a subpœna in regard to this charge from Capt. McCullagh's counsel or from the board, I shall be very happy to appear there and answer it, for the purpose of placing myself in a proper and natural position. I will state now the circumstances of this affair as I would if under oath. I went into Mr. Bramsen's restaurant and bar-room one evening, and he told me he had been interfered with by the Captain of the precinct. I did not pay much attention to it then, but he subsequently came to my office and spoke to me about it, and I recommended him to make a complaint to the Superintendent of Police. He then left my office, and I did not see him for a month, when he called on me again and said the matter remained as it was before. I told him I would go and see Capt. McCullagh, and accordingly called at the precinct, but he was not there. I afterward met him on a street corner, and told him precisely what this man stated. He said this was a bad man, and there was no truth in his statements. I informed Bramsen of these circumstances, and these were the only occasions I ever saw him. He wanted me to act as his counsel, but I declined. In this case I only used this man as confirmatory of other witnesses, not using him as a chief witness, and now I desire to say that I am perfectly willing to go before the Police Commissioners and give my testimony with respect to what I know of any charges made against me, especially the charge made by Mr. Disbecker of suborning witnesses."

Mr. Hess observed that the substance of the report as it appeared in the papers was, that Mr. Townsend as counsel advised Bramsen to do certain things which if true were wrong.

Mr. Townsend said that he had demanded that Mr. Disbecker should make good his charges before a Police Magistrate, and the stenographer of the Police Department was now furnishing him with a copy of the testimony bearing upon the case.

The resolution offered by Mr. Hess was submitted to a vote of the members of the committee, and all voted against it except Mr. Hess himself.

Mr. McGowan proposed a resolution expressing confidence in Mr. Townsend and his method of procuring witnesses.

Mr. Hess said that under the circumstances he should oppose the resolution, and that he felt constrained to vote against it until the charges against Mr. Townsend were disproved.

The resolution was adopted, Mr. Hess alone dissenting.

Mr. Townsend said if there was anybody the committee desired to call—any heads of the department, no matter who it was, if they would give him the names he would call them and submit them to a thorough examination. He had been followed by detectives from morning to night, ever since he had been connected with this examination, and he expected to be to the end of it. He had been compelled to look into the affairs of public departments closely to procure evidence against certain individuals, and there was no doubt he had made a number of personal enemies by it. He had obtained bundles of evidence against persons in these departments—against men in the Police Department which, if presented before the committee and published, would destroy the confidence the committee and the public felt in them. He had been charged with keeping back evidence against some officers while he produced evidence against others, but he asserted he offered no testimony which was not necessary to the just and proper conduct of the proceedings.

Mr. Hess said he felt—and he expressed the feeling to Mr. Campbell—that Mr. Townsend did not conduct the proceedings of the committee fairly. He desired to go as far as anybody in eliciting the truth, for he had no friends to shield and no enemies to fear.

Mr. Townsend complained that Mr. Hess should have made that statement to him rather than to Mr. Campbell, and he repeated that whoever they desired to call he would examine them. He protested against being placed by the minority in the position in which it was sought to place him, and added that he was not a politician, and was selected for that reason.

The Chairman said that he understood Mr. Townsend was appointed at the suggestion of Mr. Husted. He asked Mr. Hess if he charged that the committee was a partisan one, and Mr. Hess replied in the negative. Mr. Campbell then read the following letter, which he addressed to Commissioner Disbecker, and which will be the subject of investigation at the next meeting:

No. 125 LEXINGTON AVENUE, NEW-YORK, Sept. 22.

Hon. A. Disbecker, Commissioner of Police:

DEAR SIR: I read in the papers of this morning an account of a meeting of your board yesterday, at which you made public grave charges against Mr. John D. Townsend, the senior counsel of the Assembly Committee on Crime. Each member of our committee has had entire confidence in Mr. Townsend. We have found him to be honest, impartial, and energetic. But if the statements made by you as to his suborning witnesses are true, he is not entitled to that confidence, and it is due to yourself, to the Board of Police, to the committee, to the public, and to Mr. Townsend himself, that these statements should be thoroughly inquired into. I therefore desire to write and request you to attend at the next meeting of our committee on Friday next (24th inst.) at 11 A. M., at the old chamber of the Board of Aldermen, in the City Hall, with witnesses to substantiate your charges against Mr. Townsend. A full examination shall certainly be given to the matter.

I have the honor to be, very respectfully,

THOMAS COOPER CAMPBELL, Chairman.

Commissioner Disbecker replied as follows:

NEW-YORK, Sept. 23, 1875.

Hon. Thomas C. Campbell, No. 125 Lexington avenue:

DEAR SIR: Your favor of yesterday's date was this morning received by me. The subject matter of your communication presents itself to my mind in a somewhat different light from what apparently it does to yours. I do not believe that the public are so interested in Mr. John D. Townsend as to desire any investigation, at the public expense, to determine as to his character or professional standing, or any other matter or thing relating to him. What I have stated in relation to Mr. Townsend I am responsible for, and if he considers that he can in truth take exception to anything I have said, the law affords him a remedy. He will find me prepared to meet him. During to-morrow I will forward to you a copy of the evidence given by one Victor Bramsen in an investigation before the Board of Police. This Bramsen was examined by Mr. Townsend before your committee, as a person whose statements were worthy of credit. If what Bramsen now states in reference to Mr. Townsend is true, I do not think, whatever your opinion in the past may have been, that you will in the future express yourself in such flattering terms in reference to Mr. Townsend. I have the honor to be, very respectfully,

ABRAHAM DISBECKER.

NEW TESTIMONY.

The committee next proceeded to business. Henry F. Vail was sworn and testified that he was Cashier of the Commercial Bank, and that a large sum of money had been raised by bankers for the arrest of forgers, and that on the order of Mr. Phelps he had given to Pinkerton's Detective Agency several sums of money amounting to several thousand dollars.

John W. Merritt, of No. 80 West Ninth street, detailed the circumstances connected with the attempted shooting of himself by James L. Adams, in October, 1874, and the arrest and subsequent indictment of the prisoner. Just before Adams fired his pistol at the witness he had been arrested for presenting it at a gentleman in a street car, but as there was no one to prosecute the charge he was released. He endeavored to have the prisoner brought to trial for the offense but he did not yet succeed, and various efforts were made to have the indictment quashed. Christian Popp, a Police officer, Daniel C. Birdsall, and George Washington gave corroborative evidence.

Mr. Townsend then took up the case of Rutger Tiel, who was arrested by Detective Dunn for selling to a dealer named Joseph P. Twohey, in Chambers street, a quantity of tobacco which was stolen from Marcus, Marcuse & Co., Houston street. Tiel was sent to State Prison for a year, but Twohey never recovered his money, though he had received an order from the District Attorney for it. The money had been previously given away on an order of the Court.

A recess was here taken, and Mr. Townsend retired from the examination for the day. On reassembling, Capt. Irving was placed on the stand to testify in regard to the blanket which was stolen at Police Head-quarters, and was subsequently found in Detective Heidelberg's closet, and which led to Detectives Heidelberg's and Tilley's discharge. His testimony generally did not develop any facts which are not already made public, but he stated that, in his opinion, Heidelberg did not take the blanket, but it was placed there by Detective Clapp from malicious motives. He based his opinion on the fact that Clapp had a key of the closet in his possession, and also from his general knowledge of Clapp's character.

Detective Lahey testified that he accidentally saw this blanket in Heidelberg's closet, and that he gave the information which led to its detection. He said that all the detectives agreed not to say anything about the case. Detective Walling gave evidence that Heidelberg told him he took the blanket for Capt. Irving, but he requested him not to say anything about it. Commissioner Voorhis and William A. Martineau were also examined, without developing any new facts in the case, and the committee adjourned to next Tuesday.

TRIAL OF CAPT. M'CULLAGH.

MR. JOHN G. TOWNSEND'S ADVICE TO A BAR-KEEPER—HOW TO MAKE IT ALL RIGHT WITH THE CAPTAIN.

The trial of Capt. John H. McCullagh, of the Seventeenth Precinct, who is charged with conduct unbecoming an officer and corrupt practices while in command of the Twenty-ninth Precinct, was resumed before Commissioners Matsell and Disbecker yesterday. At the previous session on Wednesday last, Victor Bramson, who formerly kept an oyster saloon in West Thirty-first street, was the principal witness. He charged that Capt. McCullagh had interfered with his business, which consisted chiefly in sending out suppers to the houses of ill-repute in the neighborhood, in such a manner that he was compelled to sell out his place. He also testified that while being persecuted by McCullagh, he consulted Mr. John D. Townsend, at present counsel to the Assembly Committee on the Increase of Crime, who advised him to settle the matter with McCullagh, as there was no use in fighting the Captain. In pursuance of this advice he went to McCullagh and gave him $15, and promised to give him $10 per week. Bramson further testified that one morning McCullagh had ordered him to close his bar, as he was violating the Excise law, and he covered up his bar with a sheet. Mr. Townsend came into the place and told him to take down the sheet and go on and sell all the liquor he wanted, and he [Townsend] would see the Captain about the matter and make it all right with him. On cross-examination, Bramson stated that he was not quite sure that Mr. Townsend had given him the advice about settling with McCullagh, but it was either Townsend or a lawyer named Talmage who was in his company in the saloon; but in relation to the incident about violating the Excise law, he was positive that it was Mr. Townsend.

At the resumption of the trial to-day, Kate Heath, Annie Moural, and Annie Harrington, inmates of a house in West Thirty-first street, and John Stephens and David M. Rooney, colored waiters, formerly in Bramson's employ, were called for the prosecution, for the purpose of showing that McCullagh had interfered with Bramson's business to his detriment, but their testimony showed that as far as their knowledge went no such thing had occurred.

Annie Small, alias Mollie Rush, then took the stand and gave her testimony in relation to her grievance against Capt. McCullagh. She related what had occurred during McCullagh's visit to her house on June 30, when he, as alleged, attempted to induce her not to appear before the Committee on Crime. This testimony has been already published in THE TIMES. Patrolman Robinson, of the Seventeenth Precinct, was called, and denied in the most positive manner that the conversation detailed by Miss Small as having occurred between her and the Captain had taken place. Some additional testimony of no importance was taken, and the further hearing was adjourned until Wednesday next, at 10 A. M.

THE DANGERS OF THE TRAPEZE.

AN ACCIDENT AT ROBINSON HALL—TWO PERFORMERS FALL TO THE FLOOR.

An accident occurred at the matinée performance at Robinson Hall on Thursday, which demonstrated fully the risks which trapeze performers run in their thrilling exhibitions, and which narrowly escaped being fatal to two performers. At the beginning of the week the Carsinos, husband and wife, entered on a short engagement as trapeze performers, and at each entertainment they repeated the ordinary feats familiar to all who have attended the variety theatres. Frank Carsino, the man, is a practiced athlete, who has been familiar with his perilous business all his life, and is a performer of ordinary excellence, while Alice, his wife, has acted with him for the past two years, and takes only a subordinate part in the performance. It is customary for performers of this kind to provide their own apparatus, consisting in this case of a short bar swung over a longer one and fastened to it with a strap which is attached to the middle of each bar. Each bar forms the seat of a separate swing, and the strap is the only connection between the two. There was no net spread beneath the trapeze. Mr. Carsino says that he has no net, and although he could have procured one, there was not room to spread it if he had wished to, as the ceiling is only twenty-four feet high and the trapeze swings eight feet below the ceiling, which leaves only room enough for the swinging feats he is accustomed to perform, without space for the net. He says he does not know exactly what the provisions of the law are in relation to a net being spread in such cases, but he understands that it is framed for the protection of those underneath, and not of the performers. In Robinson Hall the trapeze was so placed that the swinging is over the centre aisle and toward the stage, so that none of the audience were beneath the performers.

"At the matinée on Thursday the house was rather slim," says Mr. Carsino, "and I asked my wife not to perform the swing as it is rather a dangerous feat, and I did not care to run the risk for the gratification of so few. She insisted on going through with it, and we did so." Mrs. Carsino confirmed this emphatically, saying that the story which had been told that her husband forced her to go through the whole performance, was false. "I insisted on performing that very feat against his wishes," said she.

Mrs. Carsino's part in the performance is small compared to her husband's, as she is undersized and very slender, showing by her appearance that her strength is not great. When they were nearly through the programme, they prepared for their most dangerous feat. He was balanced on one side of the lower bar, while she stood on the other. He grasped her ankle, and she threw herself forward, while he slipped off, endeavoring, as usual, to catch the bar with his legs bent at the knee. The strap in the middle had slipped to one side, and he was thus unable to catch the bar with both knees. Missing the hold with his left knee, he endeavored to lock it over his right foot, but the fall was too sudden, and the right knee slipped before he could secure the hold, and both fell to the floor, the woman striking her leg against the orchestra railing, and breaking two of the bones midway between the ankle and knee. He was stunned, and both were immediately carried out and examined by a physician, who was hastily called. He found that the fracture of the woman's leg was the only serious injury inflicted. She will be unable to walk for some weeks, but her husband, who is only bruised, says that he will fulfill an engagement he had made for next week.

Manager Robinson, although he blames Carsino for the accident, proposes to pay the expense of medical attendance, &c., and has already paid the salaries of both actors for the week.

AN OLD SWINDLE REVIVED.

Two well-dressed young men bought $33 worth of dry goods at the store of C. Rushmore, on Fulton street, Brooklyn, yesterday, and ordered them to be sent to a house at the corner of Livingston and Hoyt streets. When the boy brought the goods to the house one of the young men took the parcel and asked the messenger to step in the back parlor. While the boy was in the parlor the young man disappeared with the bundle. The lady who owns the house said that the young men had hired a room from her in the morning and told her that they expected a boy to bring a bundle during the day. The landlady has seen nothing of her lodgers since.

LAW REPORTS.

AN ADVENTURESS CONVICTED.

THE ATTEMPTED FORGERY ON THE NASSAU BANK—THE OPERATIONS OF THE FORGER HOFFMAN.

A rather interesting forgery case was tried before Recorder Hackett, in the Court of General Sessions, yesterday. The prisoner was a young and prepossessing German girl named Caroline Pells, alias Hoffman, alias Blank, who was charged with presenting a forged check for $19,400 to the Paying Teller of the Nassau Bank on the 17th of April last. She was tried in July last for the offense, but the jury could not agree upon a verdict. The facts of the case are briefly as follows: On the day in question a young German girl, dressed in mourning, and calling herself Mrs. Caroline Pells, presented to the Paying Teller of the Nassau Bank a check for $19,400, drawn by Warder, Mitchell & Co. to the order of Mrs. Caroline Pells, and indorsed by Warder, Mitchell & Co. and Caroline Pells. The check being a large one, the Teller asked her how she became possessed of it, and was told by the lady that she was a widow and had received the check presented in payment for a farm in Springfield, Ohio, sold by her to Mr. Warder. She also stated that her mother, who had come on with her from Ohio was awaiting her return at the St. Nicholas Hotel. On the President of the bank remarking that the sum named in the check was a large amount, the lady replied that it was not a large sum to her, herself and her mother being wealthy. Becoming satisfied, after consulting with the President, that the check was a forgery, the Teller told Mrs. Pells to call again, and the lady left the building, apparently not suspecting anything. Superintendent Walling, who had been sent for by the bank officials, sent Detective Hart to shadow the suspected forgeress, and ascertain whether her representations were true. After following the girl through a portion of the Fourth Ward and along the Bowery, the detective finally arrested her, on taking her to the St. Nicholas Hotel, and finding that the story of her mother's residence there was a fabrication. On being taken to Police Head-quarters the prisoner said that she had arrived in America, from Europe, only a few days before on the steam-ship Schiller. On the passage she said she had made the acquaintance of one Aloise Hammer, with whom she lived in Hoboken, and who had on the morning in question given her the check to present at the bank, while he awaited her arrival at the St. Nicholas Hotel, she being utterly ignorant of its nature. The above facts were testified to by the witnesses, the prisoner weeping piteously while detailing her experiences through the medium of the court interpreter. Counsel for the young girl claimed an acquittal, on the ground that his client was entirely innocent, but was, unfortunately, the dupe of some designing forger.

Assistant District Attorney Rollins, who summed up for the prosecution, cautioned the jury against being influenced by the youth and beauty of the prisoner, whose shamming had already succeeded in humbugging one jury. She was, he said, the agent of a gang of forgers, many of whom were taken in that court, and knew as well every word of what was being said as they did. It was afterward evident that the prisoner understood English pretty well, and had only simulated ignorance of that tongue in order to strengthen her plea of ignorance.

The jury, after a short deliberation, found Caroline guilty, with a recommendation to mercy, and upon hearing the announcement delivered in English the prisoner, who had avowed her ignorance of the language, wrung her hands and wept piteously.

Recorder Hackett said that he entirely concurred in the verdict of the jury. The prisoner had been selected by some forgers because of her youth and personal appearance to further their designs. It had been proved that she was entirely cognizant of her connection with the transaction, and she should be punished accordingly. Were it not for the recommendation of the jury he would have sentenced her to the full penalty, but in view of their merciful recommendation would sentence her to the mitigated punishment of two years and six months in the Penitentiary.

It was subsequently ascertained that Mrs. Pells or Hoffman was an accomplished adventuress. She is the mistress of the notorious Philadelphia forger, Gottlieb Hoffman, and went with him to the Vienna Exposition. Warder, Mitchell & Co. were exhibitors at the exposition, and in payment of some services performed for them, Hoffman, on his return to Philadelphia, received a check on the Nassau Bank in New-York. In this way the forger became conversant with the fact that they kept an account in that institution and obtained the signature, which he forged on the check presented by his dupe at the Nassau Bank.

SENT TO STATE PRISON FOR LIFE.

The trial of John Gonzales, a Spanish restaurant keeper, charged with setting fire to the restaurant of his former business partner, Leno Martinez, at No. 192 Pearl street, on the night of the 17th of June, was resumed before Recorder Hackett yesterday, in the Court of General Sessions. Assistant District Attorney Herring produced a number of witnesses in rebuttal of the testimony for the defense, and proved that on the night of the fire, on which Gonzales swore he was at his own house in Brooklyn, the prisoner was seen in New-York City, not very far from the premises of Martinez. Counsel on both sides then summed up, and the case was given to the jury, who, after a few minutes' deliberation, returned a verdict of guilty. Recorder Hackett said that he was entirely satisfied with the verdict of the jury, which, considering the character of the evidence, was the only verdict they could render. There was no use in wasting words on the prisoner. He had been found guilty of one of the most atrocious crimes known to the law, and deserved the severest punishment. His Honor then sentenced Gonzales to the full punishment—confinement in State Prison for the term of his natural life. Gonzales is said to be one of the worst characters ever sent to State Prison. He was suspected of setting fire to his restaurant last Winter, and after receiving the amount of his insurance opened again, but found that most of his customers had given their patronage to Martinez, in revenge for which he set fire to the saloon of the latter. Although suspected of a number of incendiary crimes, he managed to escape until the zeal and perseverance of Fire Marshal Sheldon had him brought to justice for his present offense.

CHARGED WITH TAKING BRIBES.

Samuel H. Swayze and Lemuel C. Nodine, Custom-house Inspectors, were arrested on July 6, charged with accepting bribes for passing dutiable articles belonging to passengers who arrived at this port from Liverpool on the steamer Queen on July 4. The accused gave bail before United States Commissioner Osborn, and their examination was begun yesterday morning.

Officer David H. Crowley, of the Secret Service, testified that he saw a passenger on the vessel take some greenbacks from an envelope which he took from a trunk, and then stoop down and hold the hand with the money in it near Inspector Swayze; he did not see the money pass from hand to hand, but after the passenger had left he saw Swayze with $5 in his hand; he did not know whether there was anything dutiable in the trunks belonging to the passenger.

Officer David Welton testified that he had watched Inspector Nodine, and had seen a passenger on the Queen give him what appeared to be a crumpled bill. The case was then adjourned until Tuesday next.

AN EXPENSIVE RIDE.

On Wednesday Mr. Resolved Gardner, a silk merchant residing at One Hundred and Fifty-seventh street and St. Nicholas avenue, visited Yonkers, and while in that town made the acquaintance of a young man who gave the name of Patrick Hogan. The two drank together several times, and when Mr. Gardner announced his intention of returning home, Hogan persuaded him to accept a seat in a carriage which he had engaged. Upon reaching the neighborhood of Mr. Gardner's residence Hogan left the coach and entered a hotel. The drivers, Thomas Quigley and Edward Barrigan, after waiting some time for his return, had their suspicions aroused, and upon searching Mr. Gardner, who was lying asleep in the carriage, discovered that his gold watch and chain, valued at $300, were missing. Officer Hahn, of the Third Precinct, saw the drivers examining Mr. Gardner's pockets, and took them into custody. Information which led to Hogan's arrest on Thursday night was obtained, and he was yesterday taken before Murray, at the Harlem Police Court, and committed for trial.

THE BLEECKER STREET RAILROAD.

In a suit brought by the Trustee of the first mortgage bonds of the Bleecker Street Railroad Company to foreclose a mortgage for $700,000, a motion was made some time since before Judge Donohue, in Supreme Court, Chambers, on the part of the Trustee, Mr. Marlowe, to have him authorized to take charge of the road as such Trustee for the benefit of the bondholders, or else be appointed Receiver of the road in the foreclosure suit. After holding the matter under consideration, Judge Donohue concluded to appoint a Receiver. Yesterday the respective counsel appeared before Judge Donohue, and counsel for the railroad submitted an order in which Dr. J. W. Ranney, a stockholder of the road, was named as Receiver, which was accepted by the court, and counsel immediately tendered an approved bond on the part of Dr. Ranney for $20,000. To the entry of this order, with Dr. Ranney as Receiver, counsel for the Trustee objected, and requested the court to delay the entry of it, and Judge Donohue granted such delay.

INSOLVENT ASSIGNMENTS.

William C. Duryea filed an assignment for the benefit of creditors with the Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas yesterday. William M. Shudlow is named as Assignee, and has filed a bond in $5,000. Duryea's liabilities are stated to be $35,568 08; his nominal assets, $9,215 18; real assets, $1,441 27.

George Carr and Andrew J. Cunningham, survivors of Carr & Rockafeller, have assigned to James F. Porter.

Fairfield Smith has assigned to David Bain.

William Kuster has assigned to Uffo Strackerfen.

THE POLICE BOARD.

CHARGES PREFERRED AGAINST TWO OF THE COMMISSIONERS.

Mr. David L. Twohey, one of the witnesses who recently testified before the Legislative Committee on Crime, appeared yesterday afternoon before Mayor Wickham and presented the following charges against Police Commissioners Matsell and Disbecker:

CHARGE I.—George W. Matsell, President of the Board of Police Commissioners, is wholly unfit for the office he holds.

Specification 1.—Said Matsell is wilfully and habitually negligent of his duties. It is the duty of the Superintendent of Police to prosecute before the Commissioners any and all charges of wrong and negligence that may be preferred against subordinate members of the force; and it is equally incumbent upon any Police Commissioner, knowing the Superintendent to have neglected his official duty, to compel its performance and to punish him for continued neglect. Eighteen months ago, when said Matsell was Superintendent of Police, I called upon him at his office at Police Head-quarters, and preferred numerous grave charges against certain Police Captains. No action was taken upon the charges by said Matsell, who further habitually neglected his duty by failing to cause the suppression of gambling-houses, policy-shops, and other unlawful resorts, the existence of which was a matter of common notoriety and constant complaint, though it is a fact established and admitted by the best Police authority, that such places cannot exist without the knowledge of the Police; and there is a culpable lack of evidence that Matsell as a Police Commissioner is an improvement upon Matsell as Police Superintendent.

Specification 2.—Said Matsell, as Superintendent of Police, was partial and brutal in his conduct, and thus a violator of the rights of the citizen, and of the laws he was sworn to observe and maintain; and his later declarations and admissions afford no proof of a better relation of morals to duty in this respect. Some weeks after I made the charges above mentioned, in which I named, among others, Capt. John H. McCullagh, then of the Twenty-ninth, and now of the Seventeenth Precinct, as tolerating panel-houses in his precinct, sharing in their profits, levying blackmail, and other wrongs, I again called upon said Matsell at Police Head-quarters. I was at that time disfigured from a murderous assault made upon me the night before by hired ruffians; and I further charged said McCullagh with instigating this assault upon me, and once more urged the Superintendent to act upon the charges, whereupon he wrathfully ordered me out of the office, pushing me rudely toward the door, and finally called one of his attendants to put me out. I was thus violently expelled from a Police office, where every citizen has a right to be heard and protected, merely because I respectfully insisted that the Superintendent of Police should do his duty, and thus manifest a decent regard for the public welfare and his official oath, instead of persistently prostituting both to a corrupt partiality for an unscrupulous subordinate. Being thus unsuccessful in my appeals to the Superintendent, and the Police Commissioners, to whom I preferred like charges, being indisposed to act, owing to differences among themselves, I repeated these charges in an argument before the Legislature of 1874. In response to that argument, which also set forth a long array of other facts in reference to Police rascality, the Senate appointed a committee of investigation, which committee failed to investigate because of a change in the Board of Police Commissioners which it was thought might correct the existing evils, but which ultimately brought Matsell to the head of the department as President of the board only to disappoint the hope of Police reform. A pamphlet copy of the argument upon which this committee was appointed, and substantiated by my affidavit printed upon it, was also transmitted to said Matsell after he became Police Commissioner. But neither as Superintendent nor as Commissioner did he take any action upon any of these charges until recently, when the clamor of public alarm forced him to act; though had he done his duty, there would have been no such alarm, and no occasion for the expense of a Committee on Crime to reveal our danger and disgrace; for there would have been no possibility of the present infamous Police demoralization.

Specification 3.—Ignorance and incompetency. An old man who has spent most of his life in Police service, and the best of it in publishing a Police Gazette, however pernicious the character and tendency of that publication, and yet, as Superintendent of Police, sends his officers to hunt for panel-houses at midday, is, at best, too ignorant and innocent for the stern requirements of Police control, and, therefore, necessarily incompetent to fill the first place on the "finest Police force in the world." The said Matsell is that old man. While he was Superintendent a newspaper reporter, betraying my confidence, revealed to him the names and addresses of certain panel thieves known to me to be operating in the Twenty-ninth Precinct a short time previous; and thereupon Matsell, apparently not knowing that panel thieves frequently change their quarters, sent forth two of his detectives in company with this reporter, and in the busy hours of the day, when, as every policeman knows, panel-houses are not in operation, and, therefore, not to be detected, under the pretense of suppressing these houses. The thieves, thus kindly forewarned by this dumb show of Police devotion, suspended business temporarily. The cunning detective and the astute reporter reported to the simple-minded Superintendent that there were no panel-houses at the places I had named, and in a short time the panel business prospered again as defiantly as ever.

CHARGE II.—Abraham Disbecker is wholly unfit for the office he holds as Police Commissioner.

Specification 1.—Soon after said Disbecker was appointed a Police Commissioner I repeated to him the same charges that I had made to Matsell, and likewise presented him a copy of the same pamphlet, containing my argument before the Legislature, and sworn to, as before stated. I was particular to put all the facts before Commissioner Disbecker, believing it to be his purpose, as he had proclaimed it to be his ambition, to do his duty without fear or favor. And he promised to attend to the matter at once. If he kept that promise, it was by attending to the interest of the offenders, rather than the rights of innocents and citizens.

Specification 2.—On the first day of the late trial of Capt. Burden, and long before the trial was concluded, Commissioner Disbecker publicly declared that he would not believe the principal witness, Martinot, under oath. No man is fit to weigh testimony or sit in judgment in any case, who goes out of court to destroy the character of the witnesses before the case is concluded, for a witness discredited is a witness destroyed as effectually as if dead or absent. Nobody understands this better than certain prominent Police officers and their confederates, as I infer from their known industry in assailing me. And I am credibly informed that Commissioner Disbecker has repeatedly imitated this example of a bad lot of the "best Police force." It is incredible that either of the Commissioners herein named is indispensable to our Police organization. All of which is respectfully submitted.

DAVID J. TWOHEY.

After presenting the charges, Mr. Twohey asked the Mayor if he had stated that he would not receive any complaint against the Police Commissioners until the Committee on Crime had closed its investigation. The Mayor replied in the negative, and said he would examine the charges. Mr. Twohey then left the office.

THE AMERICAN CANADIAN RIFLE MATCH.

The members of the Canadian Team, who are to contest a match with a team from the Amateur Rifle Club to-day, arrived in this City last Thursday evening. The team comprises the following gentlemen: C. R. Murray, President of the Victoria Rifle Club, and Captain of the team; J. J. Mason, Secretary; George Murison, James Adam, George Disher, W. Mitchell, D. Mitchell, F. Schwarz, and Joseph Mason. The party is accompanied by the Vice President of the club, W. S. F. Mackelcan, and Major O'Reilly. All of the gentlemen belong to the Thirteenth Battalion, Canadian Volunteers, stationed at Hamilton, and generally possess a good record as marksmen. Mr. Murison is of Scotch birth, and has once formed one of the Scotch "eight" in the contest for the Elcho Shield at Wimbledon. Joseph Mason was a member of the first team sent to Wimbledon to represent the Dominion of Canada in the annual tournament. James Adam and George Disher both possess prizes won in matches at Wimbledon. The former has also won prizes at Creedmoor. Mr. D. Mitchell carried off the prize for making the highest aggregate score at Ottawa last week. The remaining gentlemen have no record outside of their local contests. The conditions of the match to-day have recently been published in THE TIMES. The ranges covered will be 800, 900, and 1,000 yards, fifteen shots at each distance. The match will commence at 11 A. M.

SENT TO STATE PRISON.

In the Court of General Sessions yesterday, Recorder Hackett presiding, Assistant District Attorney Rollins prosecuting, William Burns, a street car thief, charged with attempting to pick the pocket of Titus Monick, a laborer at the Morgan Iron-works, on a Second avenue car, pleaded guilty, and was sent to State Prison for one year. On the 14th of August John Benson attempted to collect from the Importers' and Traders' National Bank a jewelry bill for $980, purporting to be due by James Buell to Henry C. Haskell, No. 25 Maiden lane. The bill was discovered to be a forgery, and Benson was arrested. On being arraigned he pleaded guilty to forgery, and was sentenced by the Recorder to four years in State Prison.

FRIDAY, Sept. 24—P. M.

The railway and miscellaneous share market to-day was dull and sluggish, and developed still further weakness in prices, while the active stocks declined in prices, while the few which did not record a decline were barely steady. Pacific Mail was conspicuously weak, and dropped from 35⅛ to 34¼, closing at the lowest point. The decline in the stock was assisted by a rumor that the new steam-ship City of Tokio was badly damaged, and would need the expenditure of a large sum to put her in seaworthy condition, supplemented later by a report, which was current on the Street, that the company was engaged in a fierce competition with Goodall, Nelson & Co., which runs a rival line between San Francisco and Vancouver. It was stated that the business of both companies are merely nominal, and that both are losing heavily. Lake Shore was also pressed for sale, and fell from 53⅝ to 53⅛, closing at a fractional recovery. North-western common rose to 39⅜, and the preferred to 54¼, but the closing quotations were ⅛ and ¼ ⅌ cent. lower, respectively. Western Union rose to 76¼, but afterward declined to 75¾, and closed at 75⅝. St. Paul common touched 34¾, the preferred 62⅞, and Michigan Central 56¼. Erie was irregular, the closing price being the same as yesterday. The fluctuations were 16⅞ and 17½. Ohio and Mississippi advanced to 15¾, but afterward declined to 15¼. Hannibal and St. Joseph rose to 18⅛, and then fell and closed at 18¼, against 19 yesterday.

During the afternoon the failure of Kattengill & Campbell, general merchants of this City, was reported. The firm was largely engaged in trade with Spain, East India, and Central America, and has heretofore been considered sound, ruling high at the mercantile agencies.

The money market was extremely easy again to-day, and the offerings of capital were very large at 2@3 ⅌ cent. on call loans. Prime mercantile paper sold at 5 to 7 ⅌ cent., the tendency of the market being toward firmer rates. The amount of National Bank notes received for redemption at Washington to-day was $493,000.

The foreign advices were not very important. The London market remains quiet and without essential change for Government bonds, Consols closing at 94⅜@94⅝, United States old 1865s at 106⅛ to 107⅛, 1867s at 107¾, 10-40s at 105, and new 5s at 105½@105⅜. Erie opened at 14½ and closed at 15¼@15⅞, the two extremes of the day. The preferred rose to 30. The sterling exchange market was firm early in the day, and the following prices prevailed, prime bankers' 60 days' sterling bills selling at $4 80@$4 80½, and demand as $4 84@

$4 84½. The nominal rates were advanced to $4 81 and $4 85. In the afternoon the advance in gold had a tendency to check business for to-morrow's packet, and sales were made at $4 80 for bankers' long sterling, and at $4 83½ for demand. Gold was steady and uniform, selling at 116⅜@116½, until after the rumored failure at London, when the bulls advanced the price to 116¾, the rise being assisted by the higher rates for sterling, which made it look as if no more specie would be imported from Europe. Thus far this week, it is estimated in some quarters, that £100,000 have left the English shores for this country, which, of course, will not have any material effect in relieving the stringency in cash gold. The rates paid for borrowing to-day were 7@6 ⅌ cent. per annum, and 1-64 and 1-32 ⅌ cent. per diem. The closing sales of gold were at 116⅝.

There is an increasing demand for Government bonds on the part of individual investors and financial corporations. The supply offering is small, having been reduced of late by considerable purchases for the account of corporations. Within a week one large savings bank has taken $350,000 bonds, and another savings bank $250,000. Two trust companies absorbed, respectively, $650,000 and $300,000, while a leading life insurance company purchased $500,000. Most of these transactions were made outside of the Board, and the bonds had to be picked up quietly by brokers and dealers in order to prevent any rise that would naturally follow such purchases on a market so poorly supplied with bonds as this is at present. Nearly all the savings banks, trust and insurance companies have large amounts of money which they cannot loan on call except at very low rates of interest, and hence this drift of capital into Government bonds, which offer perfect security. Officials of the class of institutions named are daily placing orders for Governments to be filled as the bonds can be obtained, several large orders having been registered to-day with some of the leading dealers. The market closed firm at an advance of ⅛@¼ ⅌ cent. over the opening transactions. There was a well distributed business in railroad bonds, but prices were somewhat irregular. Hannibal and St. Joseph convertible declined to 76½. The other changes were only ¼ to ½ ⅌ cent. In State bonds Missouri Long 6s were firm at 102@102⅛. One lot of $50,000 North Carolina special tax, 3d class, sold at 3.

The imports of dry goods at the port of New-York for the week ending this date are $2,377,585, and the amount marketed $2,326,049. The total imports of dry goods at the port since Jan. 1, this year, are $83,305,153, and the total amount marketed $83,036,119.

BOOTS AND SHOES—Business is improving, the demand being fairly active in most lines, and values generally steady. Southern and Western buyers are purchasing supplies with more freedom. City manufacturers report a more satisfactory run of orders for fine goods at full previous rates. The movements through the auction rooms are liberal as to the amount of stock distributed, but the prices thus realized are quite irregular, and in most instances considerably under the expectations of sellers. Finishing goods are moderately inquired for at about late quotations.

BRICKS—Have been in generally fair demand, and held with comparative firmness. Stock afloat has been quoted thus: Pale at $2 50@$3; Jersey, $4@$5; Haverstraw, $5 50@$6 25; Up-river, $4 50@$5 25; Long Island, $5@$5 25; Croton Front at $11@$12 for Brown, $12@$13 for Dark and $13@$14 for Red; Philadelphia Facing, $28@$30; Baltimore, $46@$52 ⅌ 1,000. And stock delivered from yard at an advance of $2@$3 ⅌ 1,000 on these figures.

COFFEE—Rio has been quoted very strong, on reduced offerings and a good demand, with sales reported of 268 bags by the Biela at 21¾c., gold, for strictly prime; 4,000 bags by the Greece and 430 bags by the Pommerania, (late transactions, not previously made public,) on private terms. The stock of Rio and Santos in first hands here, this evening, is 58,968 bags. The receipts of Rio and Santos at all the distributing ports, from Aug. 23 to Sept. 23, as made up by Messrs. William Scott & Sons, were 172,487 bags; sales, same time, 156,045 bags; stock in first hands at all the ports, this morning, was 84,195 bags. Other kinds in light supply and wanted; held more confidently....We quote invoices thus: Rio, good ordinary, 19c.@19¼c.; fair, 20¼c.@20½c.; good, 20¾c.@21c.; prime, 21¼c.@21½c., gold, ⅌ ℔., 60 days' credit; Rio, in job lots, 19c.@22¾c., gold; Santos, fair to good invoices, 20¼c.@21¼c.; Java invoices, 26c.@28c.; Maracaibo, 20½c.@22½c.; Laguayra, 20½c.@21½c.; Singapore, 22½c.@24c.; Savanilla, 20c.@21½c.; San Domingo, 17½c.@18c.; Mexican, 20c.@21c., gold, ⅌ ℔.

COOPERAGE STOCK—Has been moving rather less freely, with Hogshead Staves quoted at $80@$165; do. Pipe, $115@$245; do. Barrel, $50@$130; Box Shooks, 75c.@80c.; Pine Shooks, $6 50@$7; Sugar Shooks, with heads, $1 90@$2 60; Molasses do., $2 12½@$2 25; Empty Hogsheads, $2 25@$2 50.

CORDAGE—Has been quoted nominally unchanged in prices, but has been very quiet in most lines.

COTTON—Has been very lightly dealt in for early delivery and has been quoted lower, the official figures having been reduced ⅛c.@¼c. ⅌ ℔., closing irregularly....Sales were officially reported, for prompt delivery, of 648 bales, (of which 225 bales were on last evening,) all to spinners....New Cotton offering from wharf under the official figures, which represent Cotton from store....The movements for forward delivery have been moderate in amount, opening weaker, but subsequently rallying to about yesterday's final rates under a more liberal demand. Sales have been reported since our last of 16,200 bales, (of which were 2,700 bales on last evening, and 13,500 bales to-day,) with 1,800 bales more at the calls, on basis of Middling, with September options closing at 13 7-16c.@13 15-32c.; October, 13 1-16c.@13 3-32c.; November, 12⅞c.@12 29-32c.; December, 12⅞c.@12 29-32c.; January, 12 31-32c.@13c.; February, 13 3-16c.@13 7-32c.; March, 13 13-32c.@13 7-16c.; April, 13⅝c.; May, 13 13-16c.@13 27-32c.; June, 14 1-32c.@14 1-16c.; July, 14 3-16c.@14¼c.; August, 14 5-16c.@14⅜c. ⅌ ℔....The receipts at this port since our last have been 4,331 bales....The week's exports hence have been 2,781 bales....The receipts at the shipping ports to-day were 10,068 bales, against 5,311 bales same day last week, and for the week 47,871 bales, against 31,620 bales last week. The receipts at all the shipping ports since Sept. 1, 1875, have been 102,779 bales, against 94,868 bales the corresponding time in the preceding Cotton year....Consolidated (six days') exports to Great Britain from all the shipping ports, 5,688 bales; to the Continent, 2,293 bales....Stock in New-York, 25,020 bales; consolidated stock at the ports, 98,791 bales....The following quotations are based on Cotton in store, according to the new classification:

DRUGS, DYES, AND DYEWOODS—The movements in the leading kinds of Drugs and Dyes have been on a moderate scale, and prices have been irregular. Dyewoods have been less sought after, within the previous range of quotations.

EARTHENWARE—The market has been generally quoted weak and irregular on restricted dealings.

FERTILIZERS—Have been in rather more request at about late quotations.

FLOUR AND MEAL—A more active movement has been reported in State and Western Flour at about previous prices, in most instances. The main inquiry has been for shipping extras, in lines, in good part City Mills, and choice Amber Winter Wheat extras, for the West Indies and South America. No. 2 and Superfine brands have been selling rather more freely within our range. Trade and Family extras generally quiet and irregular. Old Minnesota Extras scarce and held above the views of buyers, checking transactions in this description. Sales since our last have been 18,600 bbls. of all grades, including poor to very choice No. 2 Flour at $4 20@$4 60, mostly at $4 35@$4 50; very poor to very choice Superfine and Western at $4 90@$5 40, chiefly at $5 25@$5 40; inferior to choice Extra State at $5 50@$5 85, mainly at $5 65@$5 75; choice to very fancy do., $5 80@$6 25; City Mills Extra, $5 50@$7 50, chiefly at $6 20@$6 35; poor to choice shipping Extra Western at $5 50@$5 80; choice to fancy do. at $5 80@$6 25; round-hoop Ohio at $5 50@$5 80 for odd lots and lines; poor to very choice Minnesota Extra, plain, $6 10@$7 75, and patent at $6 90@$9 50, the latter for fancy, and other trade and family Extras within the previous range. Included in the sales have been 10,600 bbls. shipping stock, mainly City Mills, on the basis of our quotations. ....Southern Flour has been in moderate request at steady rates. Sales have been reported since our last of 1,250 bbls., in lots, at $4 90@$5 40 for Superfine, $5 50@$6 60 for poor to very choice shipping Extras, and $6 75@$8 50 for ordinary to choice trade and family Extras....Canada Flour wholly nominal....Rye Flour has been selling slowly, even in a jobbing way, within the range of $4 25@$5 65 for poor Fine to very choice Superfine, the latter rate for very small lots. Sales, 300 bbls., chiefly at $5 35@$5 50 for Superfine....Corn-meal has been rather more sought after, but quoted easier in price, ranging from $3 45@$4 for poor to very choice Yellow Western, $3 50@$3 90 for Jersey and Pennsylvania, and $4 25@$4 30 for Brandywine, from dock or delivered. Sales have been reported of 1,150 bbls., including 400 bbls. Golden Ear, at $4; 380 bbls. Brandywine, at our quotations, and 350 bbls. Western Yellow, within our range.....Corn-meal, in bags, $1 25@$1 75 ⅌ 100 ℔.

GRAIN—Prime Spring Wheat has been offered very moderately, and having been in good demand for milling and export, has been quoted 1c.@2c. a bushel higher. The poorer grades have been depressed and unsettled, under liberal supplies and very little inquiry from any source. Winter Wheat quiet at about former rates. Sales have been reported since our last of 136,000 bushels at $1 32 for strictly prime old No. 1 Milwaukee Spring, in store, (part of a boat-load;) $1 22@$1 23½ for about fair to strictly prime old No. 2 do., in store, closing at $1 23½ for prime, (with 16,000 bushels sold at this rate;) $1 26 for strictly prime old do., to arrive next week, (8,000 bushels;) $1 20 for prime old No. 2 Chicago Spring, in store, for milling; $1 15@$1 21 for soft to strictly prime No. 2 Chicago Spring, afloat, car lots; $1 15 for No. 3 Milwaukee Spring, afloat, (15,000 bushels;) $1 12 for ungraded old Chicago Spring; $1 30 for choice new Red St. Louis, (10 car-loads;) $1 18 for new Red Western; $1 31 for new Amber Michigan, (2 car-loads.)....Corn has further declined about 2c. a bushel, under liberal offerings and a moderate inquiry for shipment and home trade account, closing heavily. Sales have been reported of 132,000 bushels, at 70c.@72c. for good to prime sailing vessel new Mixed Western, closing at 70c. for prime, afloat, prompt delivery; 68c.@70½c. for inferior to strictly prime steamer do., afloat, mainly at 69c.@70c., afloat; 72½c.@73c. for new Yellow Mixed Western; 64c.@67½c. for damaged and warm new Western, afloat, and 72c. for White Western....Rye quiet; State quoted at 90c. bid, and 92c. asked for prime....Barley in moderate demand and quoted heavy. Sales, 9,500 bushels prime four-rowed State at $1 22½, and 9,000 bushels No. 2 Toronto, to arrive first half of October, at $1 25 ⅌ bushel....Malt and Peas, as last quoted....Oats have been in very moderate request generally, and again quoted lower and irregular. Sales have been reported since our last of 59,000 bushels at 33c.@48c. for unsound to choice new Mixed Western, mostly at 46c. for good Chicago, and 44c. for St. Louis; 35c.@52c. for unsound to prime new White Western, chiefly at 48c.@50c. for good car lots; 50c.@54½c. for new White State, the latter for very choice, and 56c. for fancy do. The price of the choice new Mixed Milwaukee Oats in yesterday's report should have been printed 52c. ⅌ bushel....Hay, Straw, and Feed as last quoted....The week's export clearances hence for European ports included 9,066 bbls. Flour, 497,151 bushels of Wheat, 448,044 bushels of Corn.

NAVAL STORES—Resin has been offered with reserve and has been in good demand within the range of $1 75@$1 80 for Strained to good Strained; $1 85@$2 for No. 2; $2 35@$3 50 for No. 1; $4@$5 for Pale; $5 50@$7 50 for Extra Pale and Window Glass ⅌ 280 ℔. Sales, 250 bbls. good Strained at $1 78; 1,500 bbls. Strained at $1 75; 300 bbls No. 1 at $3 40@$3 50; and 450 bbls. Mr. Woodin has fairly earned his unanimous and enthusiastic renomination for the Senate by the Republicans of the Twenty-fifth District. In the present united condition of the Republicans of Wayne and Cayuga, this nomination is equivalent to an election. The Democrats have never been able to poll over 8,000 votes in the district, and with Mr. Tinsley, of Wayne, on the State ticket, the Republican strength in the Twenty-fifth District will not, this year, fall short of 12,000 votes. The re-election of Senator Woodin is a matter in which the City of New-York has a very direct interest. No man did better service at the last legislative session in protecting the interests of the tax-payers of this City. His pronounced ability, and his perfect familiarity with the details of legislative business, render Mr. Woodin an ally of the greatest possible value on the side of good government. We have no doubt that Senator Woodin will be as vigilant a guardian of the interests of New-York in the next Legislature as he was in the last.

The Rapid-Transit Commissioners seem to have got into a muddle, partly due to the incompetence of their Secretary and partly to their own lack of experience. The Commissioners are now inclined to look with favor on the proposal to construct a partially sunk instead of an elevated track along Third avenue, but the careless way in which their resolutions selecting the route were drawn, render it somewhat doubtful if they are not confined to the choice of an elevated plan. There is some talk of the Commissioners finding a way out of the difficulty by resigning, getting reappointed, and proceeding in a more methodical fashion, to do their work over again. The existing muddle is a good illustration of how men who would be very unlikely to select incompetent agents in their private business, are apt to rely on very indifferent assistants in the administration of public affairs.

When the detached party of the Hayden Survey, whose adventures in Western Colorado have already been well told by a Times correspondent, was attacked by Indians in the Sierra la Sal, they left two of their comrades at a supply camp in their rear. The previously-received report of that affair related the perilous incidents which attended the escape of the surveying party and their retreat. The letter published in another part of this paper gives an interesting sketch of the trip of the party of rescue.

Readers not familiar with that region of country traversed by the expedition will hardly appreciate the heroism and endurance with which a few men rode nearly three hundred miles and back again, menaced by hostile Indians, and over a horrible wilderness, to bring away their comrades. Fortunately, the exploit was successfully performed, and the story, as told by our correspondent, is a fitting sequel to what must be considered one of the most thrilling episodes of scientific exploration on the frontier.

Michigan people are naturally very much interested in a curious will contest now in course of settlement in the courts of Detroit. The testator, leaving an estate of five millions, left also two groups of children and a divorced wife, as well as a widow. The effort to set aside the peculiar will of the deceased proceeds from the elder family of the millionaire. Their version of the facts connected with the making of the will, as presented in court and in our report, is very striking, and is described properly as "sensational." One of the early questions arising in the trial is whether a Spiritualist—or, at least, such a Spiritualist as this man was—is necessarily of infirm mind. It will probably be impossible to reach a satisfactory settlement of this oft mooted point; but it may be valuable to know just how far a man's belief in spirit guides will carry him without taking him over the boundary line beyond which the law says he loses the power to make a legal last will and testament.

If the Pope really intends to transfer his paternal blessing from Alfonso of Spain to that other "true son of the Church," Don Carlos, in case of the failure of the Alfonsists to obey orders from Rome, he has selected an unfortunate time for his experiment. Don Carlos is certainly in very narrow quarters, and his cause shows signs of soon being beyond the rescue of any Papal blessing whatever. The Carlists have been very much scattered by the Government forces, and small detachments of them have been driven over the Pyrenees, where the French authorities have been obliged to "intern" them. Gen. Dorregaray is the only Carlist leader from whom any report is ever made, the others having one by one disappeared. The Spanish Government is not in a specially prosperous condition; but it certainly is now in a better position to turn its attention from military campaigning to strengthening itself at home and abroad than it has been since the boy King re-entered Madrid.

THE CONTEST IN THE SENATE DISTRICTS.

The necessity of retaining a Republican majority to the State Senate cannot be too often impressed upon our friends throughout the State. It is simple folly to assume that there is no danger of losing our control of the upper branch of the Legislature, because any such exhibition of over-confidence is calculated to encourage the very spirit of carelessness and apathy which invites defeat. The safest way to regard the campaign is to consider no district safe without an active canvass, and to give up no district for lost without making a strenuous effort to recover it. As the result of the election of 1871, the Republicans, including within their ranks three Liberals, carried twenty-four out of the thirty-two Senate districts in the State. In 1873, the Republicans, again including two Independents, lost six districts and gained two. In other words, while the Republican majority in the Senate of 1872–3 was sixteen, it was only half that number in the Senate of 1874–5.

There is here a field for active work which should not be neglected. We ought, this year, to be able to hold all that we have got, and to recapture at least some of the districts which have gone over to the enemy. The Sixth District, comprising the Eighth, Tenth, Twelfth, and Fourteenth Assembly Districts of this City, is naturally a Democratic district. It was carried for the Republicans by Mr. Weismann in 1871, simply because the Democratic vote was split between a Ring candidate and an Independent. Its loss in 1873 was a foregone conclusion so soon as it was obvious that the regular Democratic candidate would have no opposition from within his own party. This year, however, there is every reason to anticipate that the experience of 1871 will be repeated. The district is largely German, and the Germans will have a chance of showing the sincerity of their opposition to Tammany Hall by voting against the Tammany candidate for Senator. Woltman, in 1871, only polled 7,800 out of the 23,000 votes cast, and there is no reason why the Ring candidate of this year should receive a much larger proportion of the vote of the reconstructed district.

The Eleventh District, including Columbia and Dutchess Counties, was lost to the Republicans in 1873. One reason for the sweeping Republican majority in this district in 1871 was the fact of Mr. Homer A. Nelson being run and voted for in spite of his having declined the nomination. There was thus practically but one candidate in the field. Senator Ray was elected over Mr. Hogeboom in 1873 by a majority of 1,945 on a total vote of 23,627. At that election 325 Republican votes were thrown away on a Temperance candidate. Union and hard work ought to enable the Republicans to regain possession of this district.

The loss of the Twelfth District, including Rensselaer and Washington Counties, is one which there should be still less difficulty in repairing. Senator Baker carried the district for the Republicans in 1871 by a majority of 4,458 votes, and Senator Parmenter carried it against Mr. Baker in 1873 by a majority of only 828 on a vote of 27,418. There were 1,544 fewer votes cast in the district in 1873 than in 1871, and every one of these stay-at-homes was a Republican. Only Republican apathy can defeat the candidate of the party this year in the Twelfth District.

The Thirteenth or Albany District is a Democratic stronghold, and its capture in 1871 by the Republicans was rather a piece of political chance than an achievement coming within the operation of ordinary rules. The majority of Senator Adams in 1871 was but 656, and the Democratic candidate, Mr. Dayton, received in 1873 a majority of 2,152. The bitter feud between the two Democratic factions in Albany County may not improbably place the Senatorship at the mercy of the Republicans. All that the most careful organization can do to contribute to this result ought certainly to be done.

The Twenty-seventh District, comprising the Counties of Chemung, Schuyler, and Steuben, was carried by the Republicans in 1869 and 1871 with the greatest possible difficulty. Senator Minier's majority in 1869 was only 617, and Senator Harrower, who ran as a Liberal Republican, was elected in 1871 by the narrow majority of 107. Senator Bradley carried the district for the Democrats in 1873 by a majority of 2,859. The recovery of this district cannot be regarded as impossible, though it is useless to shut our eyes to the fact that it must be a very difficult feat. The anti-Tilden faction, headed by Speaker McGuire, in Schuyler County will serve to divide or neutralize a portion of the Democratic vote.

The Thirty-first or Erie District, however rapidly its changes of population may contribute to the strength of the Democracy, must not be given up without a determined struggle. It has been a very close district for several years. In 1869, Senator Lewis carried it by a majority of only 259 votes. The anti-Democratic wave of 1871 increased his majority to 1,845, and the reflex influence of 1873 permitted the election of a Democrat, Senator Ganson, with the small majority of 708. Here, again, Republican stay-at-homes decided the contest, for there were 775 fewer votes cast in 1873 than in 1871. An exciting contest may be looked for in this district, and the Republicans will belie all previous experience if they do not work most strenuously for victory.

Our friends in the First District—Queens, Richmond, and Suffolk—are doubtless prepared to retain their hold upon the Senatorship which they so gallantly captured in 1873. They must remember, however, that a change of 900 votes to the wrong side will undo the work of last election, and that in Queens County at least the accessions to the Democracy during the last two years have been pretty numerous. The Republican supremacy in the Fourteenth District—Greene and Ulster—hangs on a very slender thread. Senator Connelly's majority in 1873 was only 266, and that was on a pretty full Republican vote. The Assembly delegation of the two counties was equally divided in the Legislature of 1874, but both sent Democrats from all their four districts to the last Assembly. On the Republican vote for Assemblymen there was a falling off last year of 1,294, as compared with the same vote in 1873. This loss must be fully made up, otherwise the Fourteenth Senate District will once more pass under Democratic control.

SENTIMENTAL POLITICS.

The sentimentalists are very much tickled with the present aspect of the political field. That the New-York Democrats should put two or three Republicans on their ticket is to them a sign of the coming of the year of jubilee. That the Massachusetts Democrats should not only do this in their convention, but boldly steal a Republican platform a year old, seems to the politicians of the spooney sort nothing less than a herald of the millennium. The wolf and the lamb are to feed together, and the Democratic lion is to eat straw like an ox. That variety of political observer who is represented by the "Thoughtful Patriot," and who is perpetually viewing something or another "with alarm," is melted to tears by the unwonted spectacle of hoary old "copperheads," as the T. P. used to call them, fraternizing on the same platform with a class of persons who, not long ago, were accused of sustaining the "usurpation" of Lincoln, and attempting to let loose upon the Republic a horde of African barbarians born and fit for nothing but slavery.

It is a touching spectacle. The old-time Bourbon not only forgives the conspirator against the Constitution of our fathers, as the aforesaid Bourbon used to call that time-honored document, but he actually runs him for office. If that is not forgiveness on the largest scale, we should like to know what it is. We can condone faults and forget wrongs; but it is the acme of Christian magnanimity to vote for an ancient enemy. It was not so very long since the "Party of Administrative Reform," as these new-fangled politicians call themselves, were going about the country consigning to everlasting infamy all who supported "this iniquitous Administration"—meaning Lincoln's—and stigmatizing as robbers, satraps, and mercenaries those who gave money, votes, or influence to "this fratricidal strife"—meaning the war for the preservation of the Union. Now, wiping out yesterday's work as with a wet sponge, the cunning fellows march into their enemy's camp, seize the colors, impress the subaltern officers, and march off with loud proclamations of their patriotism, public spirit, and unfaltering determination to save the country. It is no wonder that the Thoughtful Patriot weeps in a whole column of large type, and declares that the year of jubilee has at last arrived. The Democratic war-horse no longer careers through the land, snorting defiance to "this unholy conspiracy against the liberties of a free people." He gets down from his hind legs and capers nimbly to the soft pleasings of "administrative reform" and the "memory of our dead heroes," whom, living, he derided, cursed, and hindered in every possible way.

We can imagine that some venerable hunker Democrat from the wilds of New-Hampshire, or the Adirondacks, might come down to a convention of these new lights of his party and wonder if he had not blundered into the wrong meeting. Between the familiar and consistent utterances of his ancient foes, and the more vociferous protestations of his former companions, he might well be puzzled to know which was the Original Jacobs. He has been accustomed for years to hear the Administration at Washington denounced as corrupt, tyrannical, and with a tendency to Cæsarism. So much is still left him. He recognizes the familiar bray of the animal that kicked against the inevitable all through the rebellion and reconstruction. So far, at least, he knows his party. But this strange talk about the inviolability of the hated constitutional amendments, the sanctity of the public debt, which, he believes, was incurred unconstitutionally and for unconstitutional purposes, strikes him as a mad delusion. He is in a wild dream, and when he sees John Kelly and John Bigelow weeping in each other's arms like long-lost brothers who have at last discovered the hidden strawberry mark on the arm, he goes away like a man stunned.

This is the opportunity for the sentimental politician, or rather for the sentimental person who thinks he is a politician—the namby-pamby tyro who has been so long waiting for the golden time when parties shall cease to be, and men will choose their rulers by a process of natural selection. This sort of sentimental politics is diverting to unbelievers, who see the viciousness of the wolf through the skin in which he masquerades. The lackadaisical admirers of this sort of humbug do not see the party managers winking at each other, with tongue in cheek, while they steal the thunder of their old opponents. They roll up their eyes with sanctimonious delight when Mr. Tilden's convention nominates a couple of Republicans, the Massachusetts Democrats "accept the issues of the war" which they opposed, and a Republican authority suggests Charles Francis Adams for Governor of the Bay State. The millennium has arrived, and the much talked of era of good feeling is succeeded by one of gush. Wait and see. Let us hope that the Democrats are really and truly converted. Let us hope that all their penitential whining is not hypocrisy. It is possible that they have repented, and have turned to good works. But converts so recent and so sudden ought to expect to be put on probation.

GOING OUT OF BUSINESS.

There was a time when "lectures and readings" formed the chief entertainment of many small cities and towns, and occupied a large space in the intellectual diversions of the chief centres of population. For some reason "the platform," as the place from which the lecturer delivers his message is called, has lost its ancient prestige. The day is past when lecturers made engagements for fame, and defined fame thus: "F-a-m-e—Fifty and my expenses." No lecturer is nowadays so cheap as fifty dollars. Therefore the small towns cannot afford the luxury; and the larger cities have other views. To some extent dramatic readings have taken the place of the profound essayist and "the brilliant humorist of the platform," if we may adopt the jargon of the trade. People yet make a compromise with a conscience that will not permit them to go to the theatre; they hear Shakespeare murdered by a pretty woman in nice clothes. Those who shun the play-house as the gateway of vice seek to gratify a natural craving elsewhere, and indulge in a wild debauch of "The Bells, Bells, Bells," and selections from the works of standard dramatists.

The lecture agent is the first one to feel the decline of business. Once in a while some notoriety, like "Bison Bill" or Jefferson Davis, consents to an engagement, and corruscates through a season of lectures, like some strange meteor. But the general depression in the business strikes dismay into the bosoms of men who furnish speakers and readers for the million. The lecture-goers, we must suppose, demand "sensations," just as novel readers do. They will have striking novelties, or they will stay at home. Consequently, a great many do stay at home, complaining, with marked disgust, that they don't want to hear anything more about the lost arts, Poe's "Raven," or the influence of climate upon national character. Boston undertakes to supply a deficiency, and a lecture agency of that city furnishes a programme which ought, in the language of the play-bills, to satisfy the most fastidious. Naturally, we look to Boston for everything refined and intellectual in this department of instruction and entertainment; and we need not be disappointed. This Lyceum course begins with Mlle. Titiens, who is announced as "the greatest living vocalist." She is to be supported by a full concert company and one who is also "the greatest lady pianist of the age." The next feature of the programme is Gilmore's band of innumerable performers and "a distinguished New-York soprano." Why this last-named attraction is not "a greatest living" something or another does not appear. Then, scattered along down through the Fall months, are gems from Flotow's operas, ballads, slave songs, English glees, and other tuneful performances. Later on, comes a gentleman who is introduced as "The King of the Lyceum," a very royal person indeed, who lectures on "Blunders" and gives place to "The Queen of the Lyceum." Another feature in this Athenian Lyceum is the appearance of a daring aeronaut, who, "when one mile above the earth, will perform the daring and perilous exploit of exploding his balloon"—a feat, which, as we are informed in large letters, "has been done twice only since balloons were invented." This thrilling spectacle, which we must suppose will take place in the Lyceum, is to be followed by the appearance of "the most distinguished caricaturist of France," who will caricature "the leading lecturers, editors, and public men of Boston, assisted by a popular Western raconteur," both of which branches of the entertainment, we trust, will be enjoyed by the aforesaid leading lecturers, editors, and public men.

To such an enticing programme as this it is scarcely necessary to add anything; yet the manager, with a prodigality of expenditure which does equal honor to his head and heart, mysteriously announces "a Southern orator," whose name is prudently withheld for the present, lest too much richness should cloy the waiting appetite of Boston's intellectual lecture-goers. It may be Col. Lamar, or it may be Gen. Gordon, but one of these gentlemen will fill the bill, and the public shall have more than their money's worth. It is a novelty in the art of lecturing and reading, and if the modern Athenians do not flock to their classic Lyceum, where music from the big organ is thrown in without extra charge, they deserve to be remanded to the "Lost Arts" of Wendell Phillips, and the sorrowful tale of Mrs. Brigham Young No. 17.

Variety and versatility are what people want in these degenerate times. We regret to be informed that the day is past when a whole New-England village can be set agog over the discussion which a fleeting lecturer may awaken. The great man comes and goes without deeply stirring the listlessness of the secluded ruralists. They no longer quarrel for the honor of cramming him with hot biscuits and sweetmeats, and freezing him to death in their best chamber. A man walking a tight-rope, with blazing Roman candles at each end of his balancing-pole, is more alluring than the King of the Lyceum, or the distinguished Shakespearean reader. For such triflers as these, who refuse to be amused with solid blocks of wisdom, or ancient bards at second-hand, something glittering is demanded. For these should be provided the well-known "Mr. Mullett as the North American Indian, in all his savage dances; Mr. Mullett performing the Highland fling, and Mr. Mullett as a real volcano," with all the other variations of that celebrated performer. The lecturer is going out of business; we suspect he is glad of it; he has been intolerably bored—to say nothing of his audiences. Let his exit be cheered with "greatest living" celebrities, music, and balloon ascensions.

CHILD-STEALING.

The terrible tragedy of little Charlie Ross' abduction naturally had the effect of causing timid parents to dread the possibility of the kidnapping of their own children. The very wide extent of the alarm as to this subject is shown by the frequent reports of supposed cases of child-stealing. Formerly when a small child was missed from home no one imagined that any worse fate had befallen it than that of accidental drowning in some convenient stream. Now, however, a child need only wander from a crowded shop and make its way into an omnibus to convince its parents that some one has attempted to steal it. Every tramp is looked upon as a probable child-stealer, and every wandering gypsy woman is suspected of having three or four surreptitious children concealed upon her person. It has actually become dangerous for a stranger to speak to a stray infant on the street, or to offer propitiatory candy to a squalling baby on a ferry-boat. Such advances are liable to be mistaken for the preliminary steps of a bold attempt at kidnapping, and the innocent offender is apt to be represented at subsequent conclaves of nervous mothers as a ruffian of the most repulsive appearance and unquestionably atrocious character. In certain frontier States, where horses are held in much higher estimation than men, timid persons carefully abstain from complicating themselves with stray horses, justly dreading that when the owner of the horse makes his appearance he will either promptly shoot the person in whose possession the animal is found, or—if he happens to be a calm and law-abiding man—will summon his neighbors to form a lynch court and hang the unfortunate entertainer of stray horses to his own apple-tree. If the fear of child-stealing continues to spread, it will be equally hazardous for a charitable person to give temporary shelter to a lost child; while those benevolent old gentlemen on whose doorsteps baskets containing babies for which the owners have no further use are so frequently left, will no sooner tamper with a basket of babies than with a can of nitro-glycerine.

It is time that the public looked at this matter calmly, and recognized the extreme improbability that the kidnapping of children will ever become a common crime. The Ross case was the first, and, so far as is known, the only, authentic instance of such a crime which our Police records for the last twenty-five years can show. The probability that it will be imitated is very small. There is certainly no active demand for children, per se, among tramps or criminals. In their own classes the supply vastly exceeds the demand, and the only reason which can lead to child-stealing is the hope of a reward for the stolen child's recovery. But the story of Charlie Ross shows how hopeless is such a criminal speculation as a mode of money-making. Mosher and his accomplice demanded an enormous ransom, which the father of the child was willing to pay. The kidnappers, however, found the difficulty of receiving the ransom without betraying their identity insuperable; and there is no doubt that, had they not met with sudden death, they would have been arrested by the Police and received a long term of imprisonment, instead of the ransom which they at first fancied they could secure.

Now, the experience of the Ross kidnappers will necessarily have the effect of deterring other villains from undertaking so dangerous and fruitless a crime. It is only the boldest and most intelligent of criminals who would in any event prefer the risks of kidnapping to the safer enterprises of burglary and robbery, and the intelligent criminal has sense enough to understand that the Ross case demonstrates that kidnapping in order to extort a ransom is a hopeless undertaking. As for the average tramp, he is perfectly well aware that kidnapping is as much beyond his private criminal sphere as is safe-breaking or bond-forgery, and he would as soon think of doing an honest day's work as of burdening himself with an unprofitable infant. Nervous mothers and timid fathers may as well dismiss their fears of the child-stealer. It is, of course, possible that any child may be kidnapped, and it is also possible that any child may be struck by lightning. Children, however, are in much greater danger of lightning than of kidnappers, and neither danger is sufficiently imminent to cause parents to pass uneasy days and sleepless nights.

OBITUARY.

HON. JOHN H. REYNOLDS.

John H. Reynolds died at his home in Kinderhook yesterday morning. Mr. Reynolds' life had been one of activity and usefulness in public and private capacities. He was a lawyer of much ability, and ranked among the foremost of his profession in the State. He studied law in the office of Mr. Beekman, of Kinderhook, and went thence to Albany, where he was successively in partnership with Marcus T. Reynolds and Ira and Hamilton Harris. He was Postmaster of Albany during a portion of President Pierce's administration, and was elected to Congress in 1859, running as an independent candidate against Erastus Corning. In January, 1873, he was appointed by the Governor one of the five Commissioners of Appeals, vice William H. Seward, resigned, and served out the unexpired term. He has left many warm personal and professional friends.

ERNST KRACKOWIZER, M. D.

Ernst Krackowizer, a well-known German physician of this City, died on Thursday last, at Sing Sing, of intestinal inflammation. He was born in Styria, in the Austrian Empire, in 1822, and studied medicine at Vienna and Padua. After receiving his medical diploma he became an assistant of the distinguished Austrian surgeon, Prof. Schuh. In consequence of the part which Dr. Krackowizer took as Captain of the Students' Legion during the insurrection of 1848 he was obliged to leave Vienna. He fled to Tübingen, and there became an assistant of Prof. Bruhns. In this position he remained until the activity of the Austrian Government in pursuit of the insurrectionists compelled him to depart for America. On arriving in this country he decided to devote himself to the practice of his profession at Williamsburg. In 1856 he came to New-York, and soon afterward took an active part in establishing the German Dispensary. When the Medical College of Bellevue Hospital was about to be reorganized last year, Dr. Krackowizer was chosen a member of the committee to prepare a plan of reorganization, and afterward he was made a member of the Medical Faculty. During the recent movement for Municipal reform Dr. Krackowizer was appointed a member of the Committee of Seventy.

MME. JEANNE LOUISE FARRENC.

Mme. Jeanne Louise Farrenc, a musician and composer of considerable distinction in the generation immediately preceding the present one, died at Paris yesterday, in her seventy-second year. She was born in Paris, May 31, 1804, and gave early indication of rare musical talent. She enjoyed at the Conservatory the advantage of such instructors as Moschelès, Hummel, Reicha, and other celebrated masters. Her early promises of excellence in the musical profession were richly fulfilled, and her services were sought for the special instruction of many ladies of rank, among them the Duchess of Orleans. She frequently appeared at concerts, and in 1842 became the teacher of the piano at the Conservatory. She had married, in 1832, M. Aristide Farrenc, a distinguished flutist, who later became a publisher and musical critic. The Institute bestowed upon Mme. Farrenc, in 1869, the Chartier prize, for the best compositions of concert music. She has published rondos, divertissements, and airs variés, six fugues for the piano, several orchestral overtures, some concerted pieces, airs and variations for the piano and violin, and several airs and variations from the operas in vogue in her time. She contributed many articles to the Gazette Musicale, some of which have been published separately—among others, Concerts Historique de M. Fétis à Paris, (1835.)

OBITUARY NOTES.

Thomas McCarty, ex-Auditor of Indiana and a prominent citizen of Indianapolis, died in that city Thursday night.

Edgar Snowden, senior editor and proprietor of the Alexandria (Va.) Gazette, died at his home in that city last night, in the sixty-fifth year of his age.

George C. Perkins, Manager of the Woven Wire Mattress Company, in Hartford, Conn., and one of the prominent young business men of that city, died yesterday. He graduated from Yale College in 1861.

AMUSEMENTS.

TO-DAY'S MATINEES.

Mr. George Belmore acts in "The Flying Scud" at Booth's Theatre this afternoon.

A day exhibition of "Around the World" may be enjoyed this afternoon at the Academy of Music.

Mr. and Mrs. Florence appear in "The Mighty Dollar" at the Park Theatre this afternoon and this evening.

The last matinée performance but one of "Colonel Sellers" may be attended at the Union Square Theatre to-day.

Variety entertainments are announced for this afternoon at the Olympic, the Theatre Comique, and the Parisian Varieties.

Both the San Francisco Minstrels and the company at Darling's Opera-house invite attention to après midi entertainments to-day.

A matinée performance of "Our Boys" will doubtless bring an overflowing audience to the Fifth Avenue Theatre this afternoon.

Gilmore's Garden is open this afternoon, and a programme of instrumental music is to be interpreted there by the serenade band of the place.

The last representation of "Madame L'Archiduc" occurs at the Lyceum this afternoon, the evening programme including both vaudeville and opera bouffe, represented by three most amusing pieces.

HOME GOSSIP.

Miss Jane Coombs performed in Troy this week.

Mr T. C. King was this week at De Bar's, in St. Louis.

Mr. Edwin Adams acted this week in Binghamton and in Hartford.

Miss Julia Mathews sings at the Philadelphia Academy to-morrow week.

The Vokes Family were last week at the Grand Opera House, in Cincinnati.

"Henry V." and Mr. Rignold were the attractions at Ford's, in Baltimore, throughout this week.

The New-Orleans Republican says Miss Fanny B. Price has a new piece called "Jilted." It ought to be brought out by Manager Shook.

The Kiralfys are arranging to build a "palace of amusements" in Philadelphia, during the Exhibition term, and have besides, we learn, several important enterprises afoot.

Mr. E. L. Davenport acted this week at the Arch Street Theatre, in Philadelphia; Mr. Barry Sullivan played at the Walnut Street Theatre, and "Our Boys" was represented at the new Chestnut street house.

FOREIGN NOTES.

M. Faure had returned to Paris from Luxeuil, (Haute-Saône,) bringing with him several melodies composed by himself on the rustic poetry of J. Autran.

The Paris Palais-Royal has revived "Le Réveillon," with Geoffroy and Lhéritier, and "Le Brésillien," with Brasseur, two of the great successes of that house.

A new three-act comedy by M. Théodore Barrière, entitled "Les Scandales d'Hier," had been read at the Vaudeville Theatre, in Paris, with immense success.

M. Ambroise Thomas is leading a retired life in his villa at Argenteuil, and giving the final touch to a grand opera which is shortly to be produced under the title of "Francesca Rimini."

To add some freshness to the usual announcement of "Giroflé-Girofla" at the Renaissance, a new operette, entitled "Marianne et Charlot," had been given, both words and music by M. Moniot.

M. Halanzier, director of the Grand Opera, in Paris, has decided that the artists and persons employed in his establishment, who form part of the army reserve, now called out, shall receive their full salaries during the period of their military training.

The Paris Château-d'Eau was to re-open on the 20th inst., with the grand fairy piece of MM. Clairville, Montréal, and Blondeau, "Pif-Paf." In the second act there was to be a ballet arranged by Mlle. Mariquita, and in the third a military divertissement.

M. Charles Gounod is finishing an oratorio for which the text has been drawn from the life of Sainte Geneviève, written by the Abbé Freppel, in 1869, when he was pensioner of the chapel attached to the church which bears the name of the patron saint of Paris.

Mlle. Marie Roze Perkins was in Paris, busily studying the ungrateful part of Ortrud, in "Lohengrin," which she is to undertake during the provincial tour of Her Majesty's Opera. The task is no slight one, and is all the more difficult, as Mlle. Perkins has to follow Mme. Titiens.

Mlle. Anna de Belocca has decided to adopt an Italian career, and to sing during the forthcoming Winter in Italy, where she will be most likely to gain that experience which she at present lacks. The young lady has, during the Autumn vacation, been assiduously studying Mignon in Italian.

A Flemish opera, entitled "Liederik," by two Antwerpers, the words by Mynheer Paul Billier, and the music by Mynheer Mertens, has been brought out with success at the Flemish Theatre, Antwerp. The principal parts were filled by Mmes. Hasselmanns and Gobbaerts, MM. Blauwaert and Delparte.

For the next operatic season at La Scala, Milan, the tenor, Bolis; the baritones, Aldighieri and Sparapani; the bass, Mani, Signore Mariani and Mantilla are engaged. Save further modifications, the repertory stands at present thus: "I Vespri Siciliani," "La Lega," by Sosse; "Aida; Foconda," a new opera by Ponchielli, and Verdi's "Messa da Requiem."

The fourth session of the General Association of German Musicians was held in Frankfort from the 17th to the 20th of August. This body, which has existed only three years, counts over seven thousand members, distributed among eighty local societies. The organ of the society is the Deutsche Musikerzeitung, which is published in Berlin, and edited by Herr Hermann Mendel.

M. Valdejo, recently engaged at the Paris Opéra Comique, made, on the 21st August, his début in "Zampa." This young tenor, who issued from the Conservatoire two years ago, took part last Winter in the Musical Company of Liége, and his manager, M. Martial Senterre, upon taking the management of the Grand Théâtre of Lyons, engaged him for the next campaign, after which he will return to the Opéra Comique. He possesses a fine voice.

Among the papers left by an inhabitant of Stargard, in Pomerania, twenty-three manuscripts of Mozart have been discovered. In the number is a Latin comedy, with a melodrama, "Apollo and Hyacinth," (13th May, 1766;) a symphony for two violins, two violoncellos, two basses, two hautboys, two cornets, and three counterbasses (Vienna and Olmutz, 1767;) a magnificent concerto for piano and orchestra (Vienna, 1774;) and, finally, several symphonies composed at Salzburg.

The London Echo of Sept. 11 says: The Gaiety Theatre reopens with Mr. Charles Mathews, in a new comedy, written by himself, for a short engagement previous to his departure for India. Mr. J. L. Toole will make his first appearance in London, since his return from America, on Nov. 8, playing up to Easter, 1876. Mr. Phelps will represent Cardinal Wolsey, Richelieu, and some of his most celebrated characters, at the Gaiety matinées, commencing Saturday, Nov. 13. Signor Rossi, the eminent Italian actor, supported by a powerful company, will appear at Easter, in "Hamlet," "Macbeth," and other classical plays; and negotiations are in progress with Mme. Ristori to appear with him on her return from Australia.

The London Figaro of Sept. 15 says: "On Saturday night the Carl Rosa opera scheme was inaugurated at the Princess' Theatre. Miss Hersee, who has played in England or America both Cherubino and the Countess, now sings for the first time the music of Susanna, a character which bids fair to suit her far better than either of the others. Cherubino fell to the lot of Miss Yorke, the lady who, under the more modest name of Jones, recently gained considerable success in Italy. Fräulein Tornquist, who retains her Italian name of Torriani, now plays the Countess for the first time in English, although she has frequently appeared in the part in the original Italian version. Mr. Santley, too, has changed from Almaviva to Figaro, while Mr. Campobello, who has frequently appeared as the Count in the original Italian version during the provincial tours of Her Majesty's Opera, sings the music for the first time in English, and for the first time in London. Mr. and Mrs. Aynsley Cooke have of course found congenial parts in Dr. Bartolo and the housekeeper Marcellin; Mr. Arthur Howell, the stage manager of the company, takes the small part of the drunken gardener, Antonio, and Mr. Charles Lyall is once more seen in a character which he has frequently played, that of Don Basilio."

POLITICAL NOTES.

The Democrats have nominated Josiah M. Brown for the State Senate in the Oneida district.

There are Republicans in Massachusetts who talk about Adams and Bartlett, contending that the party should claim its own.

Ohio papers say that Moses W. Field, in a speech at Sandusky City on Monday evening, denounced the foreigners who invested in United States bonds as fools and knaves.

Mr. J. M. Guinn, independent candidate for State Superintendent of Public Instruction in California, has withdrawn, leaving the field clear for Ezra S. Carr, Republican, and O. P. Fitzgerald, Democrat.

Republican papers in Wisconsin are accusing Gov. Taylor of having been guilty of fraudulent practices during the war in filling the quota of the town of Cottage Grove, of whose Supervisors he was Chairman at the time. One Capt. H. L. Farr makes affidavit that volunteers who resided in the town were paid $200 each, and that others were paid from $100 to $150; that in each case the recruit was required by Taylor to give a receipt for $200, without regard to what sum was actually paid to him, and that in this way between $400 and $500 was realized, which was divided between the affiant and Gov. Taylor.

Following are additional Republican nominations in this State:

Madison County.—Second District—For Assembly, Frederick C. Fiske; School Commissioner, Austin Lansing.

Otsego County.—Second District—For Assembly, Dr. Meigs Case; School Commissioner, Edward E. Beach.

St. Lawrence County.—For Treasurer, Milton D. Packard; District Attorney, John R. Brinckerhoff; Special County Judge, Vasco P. Abbott; Justices of Sessions, Rufus K. Jackson and A. S. Tucker; Superintendent of the Poor, David Fields; Coroner, C. B. Fisher.

Chautauqua County.—For Assembly, First District, O. D. Hinckley; Second District, Theodore S. Case; Treasurer, Orin Sperry; Superintendent of Poor, John Bootey; Justice of Sessions, William Northrup; Coroners, John Furman and O. Decker.

CHRISTIAN CONVENTION.

SECOND DAY OF THE YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION'S CONVENTION.

Newburg, N. Y., Sept. 24.—The second day of the tenth Annual Convention of the Young Men's Christian Association of this State, in session here, commenced with a prayer service led by Rev. George A. Hall, of Washington, D. C. Among those participating were John C. Pierce, of Brooklyn, who, thirty-seven years ago in London, with another, established the first Young Men's Christian Association.

In the business meeting which followed, the following officers were added to the organization: Fourth Vice President, G. B. Massey, of Watertown; Secretaries, H. Adelbert Browne, of Rochester, and James McConaughy, of New-York. Standing Committees were appointed on business, on credentials, associations, and resolutions. The report of the State Executive Committee was read showing that there were now fifty-four associations on the roll in this State, two less than last year, and there have been dropped from the list Albany, Aurora, Brooklyn, E. D., Ithaca, Newtown, Norwich, Peekskill, Tarrytown, and Weedsport, and there have been added Buffalo, Friendly Inn, Glen Cove, Matteawan, Fishkill Landing, Northport, Rochester, Rochester German, and Tioga Centre. In several of the cities the associations have been very successful in their work during the past year.

The committee recommended the appointment of a State Secretary to devote his undivided efforts to the work of organizing and strengthening associations. The expense of such an officer would be $3,000 yearly. The recommendation of the committee was discussed at some length, and contributions to the amount of $1,300 were made for the object.

The Treasurer reported that the total receipts for the year were $1,181 16, and the expenditures $1,157 18.

The afternoon session commenced with a prayer service led by George W. Cobb, of Cleveland, Ohio, after which the following questions were discussed: "The advantage to a community of an open place of Christian resort for young men," and "How shall we use the Bible in evangelistic work among young men?" B. C. Wetmore, of New-York; H. H. Lloyd, of Cincinnati; Rev. G. A. Hill, of Washington, and George E. Davis, of Vermont, made the principal addresses.

The evening session was attended by a crowded audience. The services consisted of a Bible-reading exercise, conducted by Rev. Mr. Cameron, and a thanksgiving meeting, with brief statements of needs and encouraging features in the work of the association during the year.

THE NORTH CAROLINA CONVENTION.

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 24.—The State Convention to-day, by a vote 53 to 56, refused to remove the disabilities of Ex-Gov. Holden, impeached in 1871, upon the ground that the oath of the members prescribed by the Legislature restricted them from legislative action. An ordinance will be passed giving the Legislature general pardoning powers.

THE TWENTY-FIRST REGIMENT AT CREEDMOOR.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Sept. 24.—The following-named gentlemen have been selected to represent the Twenty-first Regiment at the New-York State National Guard match at Creedmoor: F. Devo, A. F. Lindley, M. L. Beutel, W. O'Reilly, H. F. Clark, J. D. Williams, P. Ryan, R. B. Root, James Morrow, and James Smith.

EXTRAORDINARY MURDER.

A WOMAN KILLED AND CUT IN PIECES.

A MAN IS FOUND IN LONDON WITH A WOMAN'S MUTILATED BODY IN A CAB—HE REFUSES TO MAKE ANY EXPLANATION—THE WOMAN SUPPOSED TO HAVE BEEN A BALLET GIRL.

The London public has lately been profoundly excited by a murder which has attracted an unusual amount of attention on account of its strange and revolting features, and the complete mystery which surrounds its commission and the proceding circumstances. The story of the discovery is thus told by the Daily News of Monday, the 13th inst.:

An extraordinary case of mutilation was discovered by the Police on Saturday evening, under very peculiar circumstances, and although the Police authorities are strongly of opinion that a terrible murder has been committed, the identity of the woman who is the supposed victim is an open question. It seems that at a house in Commercial road East a Mr. Henry Wainwright formerly resided with his wife and family. He carried on the business of brush and harness-maker, and was a contractor to the Metropolitan Police. He removed from the house in question to School-house lane, Chingford, Essex, but continued to have access to his previous residence in the Commercial road, which is now empty. On Saturday evening, between 5 and 6 o'clock, Wainwright, who was walking in the Commercial road, met a boy, whom he engaged to carry two parcels to a cab. The boy accordingly went with him to the empty house in the Commercial road, in front of which a four-wheeled cab was waiting. In this the boy placed the two parcels which he brought from the house. Wainwright then entered the cab, followed by a woman, who it has since been ascertained is Alice Day, a dress-maker, residing at Queen's court, Commercial road. An unpleasant smell from the parcels attracted the boy's attention, and he fancied something was wrong. When the cab was driven away the boy ran after it, following it through Bishopsgate street, Grace Church street, and over London Bridge. On his way he mentioned his suspicions to several Police constables, who, however, took no notice of the matter. Persistently following the vehicle into the Borough High street, he met Police Constables Cox, No. 290, and Turner, No. 48, and asked them to "stop the cab, there is something the matter." The lad further said, "I'll have nothing to do with it for a hundred pounds," and then ran away at full speed. Such strange conduct induced the Constables to follow the cab, which stopped near the Town Hall. The man Wainwright got out and was seen to enter an empty house known as the "Hen and Chickens," No. 54 High street, Borough, of which he had the key. He carried with him one of the parcels, and having left it in the house, returned to the cab, and was in the act of taking out the second parcel when the constables approached him. On the Police insisting upon searching the parcels, Wainwright appeared greatly confused, and offered the officers £100 each if they would let him go. Having secured the man and woman, the Police proceeded to open the parcels, and in them they found the body of a full-grown woman cut into pieces. Neither the man nor the woman with him offered any explanation. They were removed to the police station at Stone's-end, Borough, as were also the two parcels. The parcels, which were covered with American cloth, resembled peddlers' packs, and on examining them Dr. Larkin found no portion of the body deficient. The pieces were in a very decomposed condition, and the medical man was of opinion that they had been subject to the influence of quicklime, and that death had taken place at least two months ago. The trunk of the body alone was in one of the parcels; the head, legs, feet, arms, and hands in the other. Every limb had been disjointed, and the right thigh bore indications of a severe blow thereon. At the Police Station the prisoners were charged with murder. Wainwright did not betray the slightest emotion at his position, and said nothing explanatory of the reason for his possession of the remains. The woman was also reserved in her manner. She, however, offered a vague explanation to the effect that she met the man in the Commercial road, and he asked her to accompany him in a ride, to which she consented.

Wainwright and the woman were examined before Magistrate Benson, Monday morning. Meanwhile it had been discovered that Wainwright's house adjoined the Pavilion Theatre, and that he was on terms of questionable intimacy with the ballet girls, although he had a wife and five children. Alice Day, the woman arrested with him, was a ballet girl, and the common suspicion was that the murdered woman was also of that vocation, though no light was thrown upon the cause and circumstances of her murder by any discoveries in court or out of it. The Division Surgeon, Dr. Larkin, testified as follows: The parcels contained the component parts of a human body in an advanced state of decomposition; there had evidently been means adopted to prevent the possibility of identification; it seemed to me that chloride or some other preparation of lime had been used to promote decomposition; could not form the slightest opinion as to the cause of death; the body had been literally chopped up by a person who knew nothing whatever of anatomy, or at least who did not use his knowledge.

The Magistrate—As to whether or not the death was caused by violence, these remains offer no ground for forming an opinion?

Witness—Only that the hair was clotted with blood.

The Magistrate—Would the blood tell you whether the wounds had been inflicted during life or after death?

Witness—I should say that the blood which was matted into the hair was not shed at the time when the body was chopped up; there is a wound along the side of the skull which I apprehend was made since; it looks as though a pickaxe had just happened to touch it.

Is there any wound on the skull that would account for that? It might.

But you think it would not? There is a large cut across the throat.

Quite independently of the cut that severed the head from the body? Oh, yes.

Does the state of the body prevent you from seeing whether there was any bloodshed in that cut? I am not at present prepared to say.

Possibly you might make a much fuller examination of the body than you have made? Very much fuller.

Matthew Fox, a Police Inspector, thus described the interior of the appearance of the prisoner's shop in Whitechapel:

The place into which I was admitted was an empty shop or warehouse, and this was the basement floor; the flooring was laid on the earth.

I saw there the chopper which I hold in my hand, wrapped up in paper; it is a small chopper, or might be called an ax. There was also a smith's hammer and a common pocket-knife, with the blade opened.

The Magistrate—Did you examine this implement [the ax] to see if it bore any marks of blood?

Inspector Fox—I found no marks of blood, but I did find marks of mud and fleshy matter. There were masses also of lime and earth on the axe. I also saw that rows of the flooring-boards had been removed. I should that the shop is one long level of 108 feet. I put boards aside and found the appearance of a new-made open grave. The boards were loose, the joints had been cut, and the spot excavated in the shape of a grave. The grave was about six feet in length, and two feet deep. The mold of it was mixed with a very large quantity of lime, and the earth had been partly thrown in. It was not quite level, and the matter thrown up appeared to me to be more lime than mold. I have a specimen here. Beside the grave I found a rope laid on the mold, and which appeared to have been in the grave, because there were both mold and lime on it. It was looped up at the end as if it had been round a person's neck. Immediately under the door (the back door) there was a certain distance flagged inside the shop and raised a step higher than the rest of the floor; and immediately behind that door I found a straw bed and a straw pillow, both of which had the appearance of having been much used. On the flags round the bed there was a great quantity of ashes and other rubbish, which appeared to have been recently moved. I had it cleared away, and underneath, on the flags, I found a great many patches which appeared to be blood. That's all.

The magistrate then asked the male prisoner in the usual way whether he wished to put any question to the witness, to which he replied in the negative, adding, "No; what I have stated is perfectly true. I know nothing beyond what I have stated." But when the same question was put to Alice Day, she turned to Wainwright, and in broken and passionate accents appealed to him to confirm her own declaration that she knew nothing whatever about the matter. Turning to the Magistrate, she said, "I wish him to tell you, Sir, that I know nothing about it."

The prisoner, Wainright, speaking calmly and collectedly, said: "What she says is quite correct; she knows nothing about the matter. I saw her at 1:30 on London Bridge, and asked her to come with me. That was all. At this point the examination was adjourned until Tuesday, the 21st.

THE GERMAN DEMOCRATS.

The German-American Democratic Independent Citizens' Association met at Beethoven Hall last evening, Oswald Ottendorfer presiding. Judge Otterbourg, in behalf of the Executive Committee, offered a set of resolutions indorsing the Syracuse platform, expressing confidence in Gov. Tilden, and favoring the election of men of capacity and character for local offices, regardless of party affiliation. The resolutions excited a lengthy debate, but were finally adopted unanimously. Judge Otterbourg also offered a resolution protesting against the building of the proposed new Seventh Regiment Armory, and laying out an immense militia parade ground near King's Bridge. This resolution was also adopted after some discussion. On the motion of the Chairman a special committee, consisting of Messrs. Oswald Ottendorfer, Uhl, Schroeder, Dr. Kessler, and Judge Otterbourg, was appointed to draft resolutions expressing condolence and sympathy for the family of the late Dr. Krackowizer, who died at his residence at Sing Sing on Thursday last. The meeting then adjourned.

THE SEAWANHAKA BOAT RACES.

The fourth annual regatta of the Seawanhaka Boat Club took place on Newtown Creek yesterday. The course was from the club-house to a stake-boat near Bliss ville Bridge and return, a distance in all of one mile and three-quarters.

The programme commenced at 2:45 P. M., and the races were won as follows:

1. Single Scull for Junior Members—Nicholas Golden Kirch; 11m. 45s.; prize, silver card-receiver.
2. Single Scull for Senior Members—Robert Orr; 10m. 53s.; prize, silver trophy cup, to be retained in the club-house till won twice by same party.
3. Pair-oared Gigs for Junior Members—C. Searle, C. Heil, with John Rankin, coxswain; 11m. 15s.; prize, two silver cups.
4. Pair-oared Gigs for Senior Members—Robert H. Orr, Michael Smith, with C. Searle, coxswain; 11m.; prize, two silver bouquet-holders.
5. Double-scull Race—Geoge Searles, C. Heil; 11m. 42s.; prize, two silver bouquet-holders.
6. Four-oared Shells—Boat Harry Moore; 9m. 20s.; prize four silver goblets. It was a most exciting race, a half length winning the race. At its conclusion the third boat, Susan Nipper, collided with the Harry Moore, crushing her quarter. One of the crew jumped overboard, and the other three were taken off by a wherry, which also towed the shattered shell to the float.

An eight-oared barge race closed the regatta, the Arlington winning in 10m. 55s.

THE WEST FARMS MURDER.

EXAMINATION BEFORE JUSTICE WHEELER—THREE COLORED MEN CHARGED WITH THE CRIME.

It now seems very probable that the three colored men, William Thompson and William Ellis, arrested by Detective McGowan, and Charles Western, arrested by Capt. McDonnell, of the Eighth Precinct, are the persons who murdered the unfortunate Jewish peddler. The prisoners were taken before Justice Wheeler, at Fordham, last night, and the following evidence taken:

Eleanor Gee, of Bronxdale, swore that Thompson came to her door on Friday last with two others and asked for something to eat. Her house was about a half mile from the woods where the murder was committed.

Thomas Gee, son of the previous witness, swore that William Thompson looked like one of the men who was at his mother's house.

Jonathan Chadwick, of Bronxdale, saw William Thompson and William Ellis in company with another colored man, in Bronxdale, on Friday morning last; they were then going toward Lydig's Woods; two of them had canes and the other a club; one of the men was a mulatto, and he had the club.

Thomas Losee, of Fourteenth street, near Broadway, saw William Thompson and Ellis with a mulatto on Friday morning last; they were on the road leading to Westchester; Thompson had a club in his hand; the others had none; the witness was in his wagon, and had his attention attracted to them by their actions and by Thompson dropping his club.

John Livingston, about 9 o'clock on Friday morning, saw three colored men at Bronxdale; Thompson looks like one of them; saw the same three about three-quarters of an hour after, coming out of Lydig's Woods; the witness saw the peddler sitting on a stoop at Bronxdale previous to this; one of the three colored men spoke to the peddler, who was eating crackers and cheese; the colored men then went toward the woods, and the peddler followed in the same direction a quarter of an hour after; the witness afterward drove past Lydig's Woods, and saw the colored men come out of the woods, acting in a suspicious manner.

William L. Conway, of Bronxdale, swore that Thompson and Ellis came into his kitchen, at Bronxdale, on Friday morning; when they left they went toward Lydig's Woods; Thompson had a cane or stick in his hand.

John Weiretter, of One Hundred and Forty-fifth street and the Southern Boulevard, testified that on Friday morning, about 10:30 o'clock, Western, in company with two other colored men, came into his hotel to have a round of drinks, in payment for which Western gave a $5 bill. The witness identified Western by the prisoner's blind eye, which is covered with a whitish film or cataract.

The prisoner were then committed until this morning at 10 o'clock, when further evidence will be produced.

OTHER ARRESTS.

Besides the three negroes mentioned above, John Passaby, of No. 2,391 Second avenue; Charles Johnson, of Railroad avenue and Second street, and William H. Jackson, of No. 2,127 First avenue, all colored, were arrested on Thursday night for larceny, and taken before Justice Murray, at the Harlem Police Court. Two of them answering the description of the suspected murderers, they were all remanded for removal to the Thirty-third Precinct for identification.

Garrison Floyd, Charles Austin, a one-eyed negro, and another by the name of Watkins were arrested in different parts of the City, and also sent to the Thirty-third Precinct.

THE INQUEST.

The inquest in the case of the murdered peddler, Abraham Weisberg, was resumed last evening by Coroner Muller at Tremont. Several witnesses were examined and the depositions of others taken in the morning at Fordham were submitted in evidence. Assistant District Attorney Herring was present and assisted the Coroner in conducting the examination.

George Saxon, a colored man, testified to the finding of the body of Weisberg in Lydig's Woods on Sunday morning; went home and informed his daughter, who informed her husband; his son-in-law went to the place, accompanied by other men, and found the body.

Abraham Landrine testified that on Sunday morning his father-in-law went into the woods and returned in a short time and told him that he saw a man lying there; went to the place indicated, with four others, and reported the fact at the Tremont Police Station.

Joseph B aney, living at the corner of One Hundred and Forty-seventh street and Southern Boulevard, being called, swore that he saw the three colored men on the Southern Boulevard; was about one hundred yards away from them; could partially identify one of the prisoners (Thompson) as one of the men; found a pocket-book and torn papers where he had seen them; the pocket-book was open; saw the three negroes go into the lot where he found the pocket-book.

Eleanora Gee, residing at Bronxdale, saw William Thompson, one of the prisoners, on Friday morning last; he came to her door with two others, and asked her daughter for something to eat; it was the same day on which the murder was made known that they came to the house, which is about half a mile from the woods in which the murder was committed.

Thomas G. Gee testified that he saw three colored men at his mother's house on the same day that the murder was committed; thought that William Thompson looked like one of the three; on leaving the house they went in the direction of the woods.

Jonathan Chadwick, a resident of Bronxdale, swore that he saw William Thompson and William Ellis, the prisoners, in Bronxdale, on Friday morning last, the day on which the murder is supposed to have been committed; they were going toward Lydig's Woods; two of them carried canes and another a club.

Thomas Losee, living in One Hundred and Forty-seventh street, saw Ellis and Thompson on Thursday, with another man, on the road to Westchester; Thompson carried a club and the others had canes; while looking after them saw Thompson drop his club.

John Livingstone saw the three men in Bronxdale about 9 o'clock on Friday morning, and thought that Thompson resembled one of them; saw the same men three-quarters of an hour afterward coming out of Lydig's Woods; saw the peddler setting on a stoop at Bronxdale eating crackers; the three colored men came down the road and went to the stoop where he was; heard the peddler and the colored men talking together; they left before the peddler, and went toward Lydig's Woods; and within fifteen minutes after their departure, he proceeded in the same direction; witness soon afterward drove down past Lydig's Woods and saw the three negroes coming out with sticks in their hands; they looked as if they had been doing some mischief.

Several other persons gave similar evidence, after which the inquest was adjourned to this evening.

DROWNED UNDER MYSTERIOUS CIRCUMSTANCES.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WILMINGTON, Del., Sept. 24.—This afternoon the body of Mary Jane Grubb, an unmarried woman of about thirty years, was found floating in the Christiana River near the city front. She had been missing since Sunday night, when she left the house of a friend in this city to go to church. She had to cross the Brandywine, and may have fallen in or committed suicide. Her shoe-strings were tied together, and there was an injury on the side of her nose at the eye, but no other marks of violence. The manner of her death seems mysterious, as the body was less decomposed than if it had been in the water since the time of her disappearance.

DEATH OF HON. ISRAEL T. HATCH.

Hon. Israel T. Hatch died yesterday at his family residence in Buffalo, N. Y., after a severe and protracted illness. He was sixty-seven years of age. In 1828 he went to Buffalo and practiced law, being a graduate of Union College, Schenectady. He was Assistant Secretary of State in 1829–30; was elected member of Assembly in 1852, and of Congress in 1856; was appointed Postmaster of Buffalo in November, 1859, and served to the Spring of 1861. He was also appointed member of the Constitutional Convention of 1867-8, and a Commissioner of the Reciprocity Treaty in 1869-70. He was for many years engaged in the banking business, and prominently connected with the elevating and dock business in Buffalo.

DEATH OF A PROMINENT CHICAGOAN.

CHICAGO, Sept. 25.—George W. Gage, formerly connected with some of the largest hotels in the city, and prominently identified with city politics for some time past, died here to-night. He had been unfortunate in his later business enterprises, and was greatly broken down physically at the time of his death.

THE TURF.

THE LOUISVILLE RACES.

PORT LEONARD, ALFONSO, KILBURN, AND VAGRANT THE WINNERS—ONE HORSE KILLED.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 24.—The first race today, for the Gentlemen's Cup, value $250, dash of one and one-eighth miles, 160 pounds minimum weight, members of any club to ride, was won by Mr. Trigg Moss, who rode Port Leonard; Irving Keller, rider of Token, second, and Dr. James Green, rider of Australian, third. Time—2:07¾.

The second race was for the Tobacco Stakes, for three-year olds that have not won prior to Aug. 1, 1875; mile heats; $25, play or pay; the tobacco-dealers of Louisville to add $400, of which $100 to second horse. Nineteen entries; six starters, as follows: D. Swigert's b. c. King Alfonso, by Phaeton and Capitola; Robinson, Morgan & Co.'s br. f. Gyptis, by Australian and Mazurka; Keene Richards' ch. f. Misdeal, by Gilroy and Mishap; R. B. Cheatham's ch. f. Lady Bug, by Vandal and Fannie Cheatham; Capt. Cotterill's ch. f. Leap Year, by Leamington and Cricket; A. B. Lewis & Co.'s b. c. Vagabond, by Vandal and Gem. The pool-selling was according to the order named. Both heats were won by the favorite, Alfonso, Gyptis second, and Misdeal third. Time—1:44½. Lady Bug swerved from the track and ran against the post of a closed gate, burst open her head, and died. Her rider, Willie Miller, of Henderson, Ky., was slightly hurt.

The third race, one and a quarter miles, had five starters. Atchison's ch. f. Grenoble, 3 years old, by Baywood and Lute; Buford's ch. g. Kilburn, 4 years old, by Ringmaster and Ontario; Hunt Reynolds' ch. g. Marmion, 3 years old, by Planet and Grand Duchesse; F. Lord's b. g. Port Leonard, by Voucher and Prunella; Keene Richards' b. s. Redman, by War Dance and Solferino. Kilburn came in the victor, Marmion second, and Redman third, all ahead of the favorite, Grenoble. Time—2:12.

The fourth was a dash of one mile for two-year olds for the Sandford Stake. The following were the starters: T. J. Nichols' b. g. Vagrant, by Virgil, dam Lazy, by imp. Scythian; Keene Richards' ch. f. Clemmie G., by War Dance, dam Alexandria, by imp. Sovereign; D. Swigert's b. c. Bombay, by Planet, dam Nora, by imp. Sovereign; J. B. Randall's b. c. The Nipper, by imp. Phaeton, dam Annette, by Lexington; John Gardner's ch. f. by Lexington, dam by imp. Glencoe; Hunt Reynolds' ch. f. Pirouette, by Harvey Villian, dam Farfaletta; D. J. Crouse's b. f. Alborac, by Revolver, dam by Ringgold; William Murphy's ch. c. Russ Butler, by War Dance and Princess Royal; Stringfield & Clay's b. c. Blue Coat, by Jack Malone and Ivy Leaf. The favorite, Vagrant, got off next to the last, Clemmie G., the second choice, being behind him. Pirouette led the flyers to the three-quarter pole, when Vagrant, who had been steadily going forward, took the first place, and came in ahead, Alborac second, and Gardner's ch. f. third. Clemmie G. never showed in the race, having got off very badly at the start. Time—1:46.

To-morrow's races will close the present meeting.

WATSON.—At Englewood, N. J., Sept. 23, MARGARET ELIZABETH PAULINE, only child of Thomas A. and Pauline T. Watson, aged 3 years and 9 months.

WILKIN.—At Cobalt, Conn., Sept. 13, Mr. AGRICOLA WILKIN, late of this City.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. HENRIETTA A. CROMWELL, wife of Charles T. Cromwell, who died on the 23d inst., was a lady of the finest traits of character. She was a devoted wife and a tender and loving mother. Her warm friendship and gentle manners endeared her to all who knew her. To the poor her heart was always open and her hand ready to help. She will long be mourned, and long remembered by the very many who loved her.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

A BENEFACTRESS.

Just open the door for her, and Mrs. Winslow will prove the American Florence Nightingale of the Nursery. Of this we are so sure that we will teach our "Susy" to say, "A blessing on Mrs. Winslow" for helping her to survive and escape the griping, colicking, and teething siege. MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP relieves the child from pain, and cures DYSENTERY and DIARRHEA. It softens the gums, reduces inflammation, cures WIND COLIC, and carries the infant safely through the TEETHING PERIOD. It performs precisely what it professes to perform—every part of it—nothing less. We have never seen Mrs. Winslow—know her only through the preparation of her "SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING." If we had the power, we would make her, as she is, a physical saviour to the infant race. Sold by all druggists.

THE SPOT UPON THE ROSE, THE STAIN upon the lily, the blight upon the violet, detract from their beauty, but cannot be removed—not so with the freckles upon the face of beauty, the moth-patch upon the neck of loveliness, the tan caused by the too amorous kiss of a rude sun on the cheek of a fair woman; these can be eradicated by the use of DR. GOURAUD'S ORIENTAL CREAM, or MAGICAL BEAUTIFIER. The sunny side of a peach is not more beautiful than a lady's complexion purified and softened into perfect loveliness by the use of this cosmetic.

MESSRS. IVISON, BLAKEMAN, TAYLOR & CO.
Have the pleasure of announcing that the widely-popular text-book,
ROBINSON'S ELEMENTARY ALGEBRA,

has been newly electrotyped throughout—though no change whatever has been made in arrangement or text. Owing to the unprecedented demand for the work the very large edition that we had in stock at the beginning of the season was early exhausted, and the slight delay occasioned in getting out the new edition has made it impossible for us to fill our orders as promptly as could have been wished, but we are now able to supply the demand.

JUST PUBLISHED.
SWINTON'S GEOGRAPHICAL COURSE.
By WILLIAM SWINTON,
Author of Word-Book Series; Outlines of History; Language Lessons, &c.

In the preparation of these works the author has not been content with making merely a skillful compilation; he has, in fact, remodeled the subject of Geography in accordance with the most advanced methods now pursued in our leading cities, and has introduced features of such novelty and importance that the publication of these books must mark A NEW ERA IN GEOGRAPHICAL TEACHING.

The Course is embodied in two books, namely:

ELEMENTARY COURSE IN GEOGRAPHY. Designed as a Class-book for Primary and Intermediate Grades and as a complete shorter course. 132 pages, large 8vo. $1 20.

COMPLETE COURSE IN GEOGRAPHY. Physical, Industrial, and a Special Geography for each State in the Union. Designed as a Class-book for Intermediate and Grammar Grades. 136 pages, 4to. $2.

 Correspondence is solicited with reference to the introduction of these Geographies. A copy of the "ELEMENTARY GEOGRAPHY" will be mailed on receipt of fifty cents, and of the "COMPLETE GEOGRAPHY" on receipt of ninety cents, if desired for examination with a view to introduction. Specimen pages sent free on application.

A SHORTER COURSE IN CIVIL GOVERNMENT,

Consisting of Seventy Lessons, Arranged in Topics, with Numerous Questions for Convenience in Teaching. Prepared for the use of Common, Select, and Grammar Schools. By CALVIN TOWNSEND, author of "Analysis of Civil Government," "Compendium of Commercial Law," "Analysis of Letter Writing," &c. Cloth, 240 pages. Price $1.

By mail to educationists for examination with a view to introduction on receipt of sixty cents.

IMPRESSIONS OF
LONDON SOCIAL LIFE.
By E. S. NADAL.
One vol. 12mo, cloth, $1 50.

During a residence of a year or two in England, as a Secretary of the United States Legation, Mr. Nadal enjoyed unusual facilities for observing the inner social life of the people. He has here sketched their characteristics with the most attractive freshness and freedom, while a subtle, philosophic irony, and a delicate but keen humor, lend additional charms to a terse and elegant style. The volume is both interesting for the insight which it gives into English life, and of real value as worthily supplementing the well-known works of Emerson and Hawthorne, which discuss the same subject.

LOAN FOR $473,000

FOR THE DEFICIENCY IN THE SINKING FUND, UNDER SECTION 3, ARTICLE 7 OF THE CONSTITUTION.

The Commissioners of the Canal Fund, by virtue of the act entitled: "An act to provide means to support the Government" passed April 12, 1855, and in accordance with section 3 of article 7 of the Constitution, hereby give notice that sealed proposals will be received at the Canal Department until the 29th day of September, inst., at 12 o'clock noon of that day, for a loan of FOUR HUNDRED AND SEVENTY-THREE THOUSAND DOLLARS.

For which Transferable Certificates of stock, PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD, Registered, will be issued in the name of the people of the State of New-York, on the credit of the Sinking Fund, under section 3 article 7 of the Constitution, bearing interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually, on the 1st days of April and October in each year, and the principal reimbursable on the 1st day of October, 1893.

It is to be understood that the Commissioners are to be at liberty to accept or reject any or all proposals if the offers are not such as in their opinion are advantageous to the interests of the State.

The proposals may be for the whole, or any part of said loan not less than $50,000.

All proposals to be sealed up and indorsed "Loan for the Sinking Fund," and inclosed in an envelope directed to the Auditor of the Canal Department, Albany, N. Y.

The money will be required to be paid in gold coin on the acceptance of the proposal, or by the 30th day of September, inst.

Payments to be made by depositing the same to the credit of the "Treasurer of the State of New-York, on account of the Canal Fund," in the Bank of the Manhattan Company, New-York.

Interest on the loan will commence on the 1st day of October next, and be payable semi-annually on the 1st days of April and October, at the Bank of the Manhattan Company, in the City of New-York.

Dated Canal Department, Albany, Sept. 13, 1875.

By order of the board,
WM. DORSHEIMER,
Lieutenant Governor, Chairman.
FRANCIS S. THAYER, Auditor, Secretary.

RAPID TRANSIT.

A LEGAL POINT LATELY NOTICED.

INTERPRETATION OF THE WORDS "OVER," "THROUGH," AND "ALONG"—WILL THEY ADMIT OF THE CONSTRUCTION OF A DEPRESSED RAILWAY?

The Rapid-transit Commissioners devoted their time yesterday afternoon to hearing counsel on a legal point lately brought to their notice. The point involved is whether the words "over, through, and along" can be so construed as to admit of the construction of a depressed railway. In other words, the commission have been assured that although their resolutions fixing the routes use only the words "thence over, through, and along Third avenue," the meaning thereof is under as well as over, and that consequently a depressed road may be constructed. This view of the case is taken by Judge John K. Porter, G. P. Lowrey, Judge Fithian, and R. M. Alexander, all of whom were present yesterday. The commission listened to the opinions of these gentlemen on this subject and then adjourned for the day. Judge Emmett and S. P. Nash, both of whom are retained as legal advisers to the commission, were present and listened attentively to the argument advanced. It is understood they will furnish the commission with a written opinion on the subject, to be presented perhaps on Monday next.

It has been ascertained that Judge Porter and the others who have been mentioned represent not one company or combination alone, but all those who have important plans submitted, save one. The exception is Mr. Richard Morgan, who is unalterably opposed to anything but an elevated railway. The Greenwich Street Company and the Gilbert plan people are quite agreed that the commission shall establish a rule giving all contestants the option of building either a depressed or an elevated road. On this point hang all the deliberations of the past two days. The commission admit that much trouble would have been obviated had their Secretary gotten up a properly constructed set of resolutions. At the time of their publication THE TIMES referred to the document as one of "the most verbose and confusing documents which has ever issued on a subject of the highest public importance." There are those who charge the Secretary with intentional omission of the word "under," while others attribute it to his carelessness. Be that as it may, the omission has got the commission into the muddle anticipated by THE TIMES. The only ones not interested who seem clear upon the point involved are the consulting engineers to the commission. It is said they give it as their opinion that a depressed railroad may be constructed in accordance with the resolutions adopted by the commission. That is to say, so long as a company does not build a road in a tunnel it is not an underground road and is properly classed as being built through the street. This opinion is concurred in by Commodore Garrison, a wealthy capitalist, who is reputed to have said he would construct a depressed railway or none at all. Those persons who have plans before the Commissioners, and who are opposed to a depressed railway, are bitter in their denunciation of the advocates of the scheme. Some of them go so far as to denounce it as a scheme to black-mail the Third Avenue Company. Their argument is to the effect that the Third Avenue Company would pay a large sum to buy off any combination which might seek to interfere with their business by constructing a depressed road along that thoroughfare.

It is no easy matter to arrive at the opinions of the Commissioners on these points. They are very reticent, preferring, they say, to express themselves fully in their forthcoming report. It is not difficult to see, however, that they are considerably annoyed with the turn affairs have taken. The very ones who were at first advising the commission to adopt plans for an elevated road only are now urging upon them the depressed plan. To extricate themselves from the dilemma it has been hinted that the Commissioners will shortly hand in their resignations. This will necessitate the appointment of another commission, and of course these same gentlemen will compose that board. Then it will be lawful for them to begin again their efforts to establish a rapid-transit route. Their experience will enable them to shun the difficulties which now encompass the present board, and the subject of rapid transit, although delayed for an additional ninety days, will be the more easy of solution.

AN OPPOSITION ORGANIZING.

THE THIRD AVENUE PROPERTY-OWNERS PROTEST AGAINST THE MEASURES PROPOSED.

A meeting of the owners of property fronting on Chatham street, the Bowery, and Third avenue, was held last evening at the Empire House, No. 613 Third avenue, for the purpose of expressing opposition to rapid transit. The call for the meeting was signed by H. P. Smith, President of the Third Avenue Association. The attendance was small, not more than forty persons being present. The Chairman, Mr. Charles G. Dean said the object for which they had assembled was to express their opposition to the proposed erection of a steam rapid-transit railroad, and to show that their rights as citizens and taxpayers were not to be taken away by any moneyed monopoly or corporation, without first obtaining their consent. He claimed that such a road would depreciate the value of property along the lines of the thoroughfares mentioned, from thirty to fifty per cent. This statement he attempted to prove by asserting that the rentals and assessed valuation of property on Greenwich street had been greatly reduced since the construction of an elevated railroad in that thoroughfare. The next speaker was a Mr. Johnston, who said that although small in numbers those present represented a large amount of property. So far as he had been able to learn all property-owners on Third avenue were opposed to rapid transit. Mr. Marshall coincided with the views of the previous speaker. He asserted that all the railway franchises of Manhattan Island had been stolen from the people. The surface of the street had been taken, and now it was proposed to steal the very air they breathed. They should organize and unitedly oppose the scheme, which he held would destroy $50,000,000 worth of property. The next speaker was Matthew Byrne. He was for opposing rapid transit through Third avenue with all the money and power they could bring to bear. What was needed was money, and, most of all, a counsel learned in the law, able to cope with the tricksters who were trying to steal their property. He stated that property in Greenwich street, since the building of its elevated railroad, was worth sixty per cent. less than it was five years ago. He then said that if the rapid-transit route was established it meant nothing more nor less than the importation of foreign gold, with which to construct an inlet for railroads built in the interest of Montreal and Boston. Having accumulated some little property, he would defend it, not only with his money, but with his life. It was stated that four-fifths of the people living along the upper end of the avenue were opposed to rapid transit.

A resolution was then adopted providing for the appointment of an Executive Committee of fifteen to prepare plans, secure money, and arrange the details of defense against the proposed rapid-transit road. The meeting was then adjourned.

MR. SULLIVAN'S LOST BOY.

Little Josey Sullivan has not yet been found, although his father is making every effort possible to follow up the only clue that has been obtained to his whereabouts. This clue was discovered through the publication of the story, and is the same one which Superintendent Walling is working on. The facts, so far as known, are as follows: About 3 o'clock on the day in which the child was taken four persons near Woodside, Long Island, saw a boy answering very closely to the description of the lost child, in a wagon drawn by a span of horses which was driven by a stranger in that neighborhood. One of the four, a farmer's wife, living near Woodside, saw the account published and immediately sent word to Mr. Sullivan. She said that she saw a middle-aged man, driving rapidly in a wagon, who had with him a child about three years old. She was struck with the appearance of the child's face, but was unable to tell whether it was a boy or girl. The hair and clear complexion were like Josey's, whose long flaxen curls fell over his shoulders. The child seemed distressed and had apparently been crying. Mr. Sullivan, on hearing this story, informed Superintendent Walling, who sent two detectives to Woodside, who are still at work. Mr. Sullivan has not obtained any information from the detectives, but wisely making search himself found three other residents of Woodside who had seen the same child in the wagon. He has employed two persons who live in that neighborhood to prosecute the search, and is hopeful of getting intelligence from them that will lead to the recovery of the boy.

BLASTING POWDER MISTAKEN FOR COAL.

The children of Mr. Oliver Banks, of Oliver avenue, Yonkers, while playing in the street, a few days ago, picked up a parcel neatly tied up, which they took home. Mrs. Banks, supposing the contents to be fine coal, threw the parcel into the coal box. It was subsequently thrown with some coal on the fire, when an explosion took place, the contents of the parcel proving to be blasting powder. Mrs. Banks was badly burned about the hands and arms, while her face was scorched and her hair and eyebrows singed.

A CASE OF YELLOW FEVER IN BROOKLYN.

William J. Bolton, a sailor belonging to the brig Wanburn, recently arrived at this port from Matanzas, was taken to the Brooklyn City Hospital last Saturday suffering from what was then believed to be an ordinary type of fever. On Thursday the patient exhibited symptoms of yellow fever, and yesterday the signs were so marked as to establish clearly that he was suffering from that disease. The physicians in attendance notified the health authorities, and took immediate steps, by the use of disinfectants, to prevent the spread of the disease. Officers were sent out from the Health Department to discover the present location of the Wanburn, which is said to have mysteriously disappeared. Last evening Bolton's condition was such that his recovery was considered doubtful. Several cases of yellow fever occurred on board the Wanburn on her voyage from Matanzas to this port, and when she arrived at Quarantine she was detained by the Health Officer until she had been disinfected.

THE RIVER WALLS.

ALLEGED DEFECTIVE WORK BY THE LATE CHIEF ENGINEER—WHAT THE DOCK COMMISSIONERS SAY.

The new Engineer of the Dock Department, Mr. George S. Greene, recently reported to the Dock Commissioners that he had examined the river walls at the foot of Canal and King streets, which were constructed under the supervision of his predecessor, Gen. Graham, and that he believed them to be unsafe. It is said that Gen. Graham differed with Gen. George B. McClellan as to the material which should be used in the work. After receiving the report of Engineer Greene and corroborative statements from other applicants, the Dock Commissioners addressed the following communication to Mayor Wickham:

DEPARTMENT OF DOCKS, NEW-YORK, Sept. 22, 1875.

Hon. W. H. Wickham, Mayor:

SIR: The undersigned, Commissioners of the Department of Docks, have the honor to transmit herewith the report of the Engineer in Chief of the department, in which is detailed the result of examinations made of sections of the sea-wall now nearly completed at Canal street and King street, North River. We invite your careful attention to this report and to the following brief narrative:

The original plan for the construction of the sea-wall devised by Gen. McClellan, the then Engineer in Chief, is known as the béton block system, which consists of the formation of massive concrete blocks, formed in molds and manufactured in the open air, in such sizes as the nature of the work demands. These blocks, when properly hardened, were lowered by the aid of the large floating derrick to a foundation of piles, firmly driven and then sawed off so as to form an even bed. An example of this system of construction is found at the Christopher street section.

In the month of July, 1873, Gen. Charles K. Graham was appointed Engineer in Chief of the department, in place of Gen. McClellan, who had resigned. It appears from the records of the department that in the month of October, 1874, with a view to more economy in the construction of the sea-wall, the Engineer in Chief recommended to the board, as a substitute for béton blocks, that concrete en masse should be formed upon a foundation of piles in a wet caisson, the concrete being lowered to its place within the caisson, (by appropriate machinery,) in tilting buckets, and then left to harden into a solid mass. The heads of the piles were not cut off after being driven. In the month of November following, our predecessors, by formal resolution, adopted the recommendation of Gen. Graham, and ordered the work to proceed, which was done, and about 347 feet were constructed. For particulars concerning this system of bulk-head wall construction see report of Gen. Graham herewith inclosed. The new Board of Commissioners was organized on the 2d of May last, and on the 2d of June following Gen. Graham resigned the office of Engineer in Chief, and as soon as practicable his successor, George S. Greene, Jr., was appointed to fill the vacancy. The attention of Commissioners being called to possible defects in this method of constructing, the subject was referred for investigation to the Executive Committee, who directed the Engineer in Chief to make a careful examination of the work and report thereon.

The difficulties attending the examination in turbid water, and the results thereof, are explained in the Engineer in Chief's report. The examination has proceeded far enough to excite in our minds very grave apprehension as to the safety of that portion of the wall covered by the report.

If our apprehension should be well founded, we desire to avail ourselves of such remedy as the combined wisdom of the highest authorities may suggest. This is not only due to the great interests of the City, but it seems also just that individuals who may be considered responsible for the work should have the advantage of the fullest and fairest experimentation of it by a body of men of such capacity and character that their decision shall be accepted by all. We have, therefore, thought it desirable to have an examination of the wall covered by this report made by three engineers of the first eminence, and to invite their suggestions as to the remedy to be applied if any is thought necessary by them. That we may secure the utmost impartiality in this investigation we have deemed it proper to request your Honor, as the Chief Magistrate of the City, to name three suitable persons for this purpose. Very respectfully, (Signed,) S. H. Wales, H. F. Dimock, Jacob A. Westervelt, Commissioners.

THE INSURANCE CONVENTION.

BRIEF ADDRESSES BY MR. HEALD AND DR. LAMBERT—NO BUSINESS OF IMPORTANCE TRANSACTED.

The Insurance Convention held its fifth day's session yesterday in the hall of the Fire Underwriters, No. 156 Broadway, Mr. Chapman presiding. The minutes of the previous day having been read and approved, the Chairman announced that the Committee on Blanks and the Committee on Legislation were in session at the Fifth Avenue Hotel. He then called upon Mr. Heald, of the Home Insurance Company of this City, to address the Convention. Mr. Heald spoke as to the inexpediency of taxing insurance companies at all, except on their capital in the States in which they did business. As they must assume that insurance companies are to be taxed, he would call attention to a few points which ought to be considered. The tax was, he believed, a misnomer, as it was in the light of a tax for the privilege of doing business in the State. He considered that the tax should be graded according to the income, and not according to the gross business of the company in the State. He was in favor of a proper ad valorem tax or license in proportion to the value of the privilege granted, but to no greater extent.

Dr. Lambert, of this City, next addressed the convention on the fictions and beauties of life insurance. The sole object of life insurance was to relieve the mind of anxiety, but not more than one-third of the business could be classed under the head of true insurance, one-third being comprised under the head of betting and gambling, and one-third under the head of speculation. Betting, gambling, and speculation were the bane of life insurance, and these were the reasons which caused the people to look upon the whole business of life insurance as a failure. There was fiction in regard to the contract. It was stated that a contract for life insurance was different from other contracts, whereas it is nothing but a simple contract between two parties to which each should be held. He defended insurance companies for contesting fraudulent claims, and on the part of the company with which he was connected he wanted it to be distinctly understood that they would contest all dishonest claims. The Doctor indicated different fictions, chief of which was the mode of fixing the risks, and concluded by asserting that life insurance cannot prosper until there is an equitable appraisement of the risks.

The convention then adjourned to meet in executive session at the Fifth Avenue Hotel.

POPULATION OF WESTCHESTER.

All the census enumerators of Westchester County have filed complete returns with the County Clerk. A portion of Yonkers having been set apart as the town of Kingsbridge, and subsequently annexed to the City of New-York since the census of 1870, a falling off in the population of Yonkers is apparent. Following is the list:

FALL REGATTA OF THE MODEL YACHTS.

The Prospect Park Model Yacht Club will hold their regular Fall regatta at Prospect Park Lake, Brooklyn, this afternoon at 3 o'clock, the prize to be sailed for being a set of silver valued at $25. The following crack boats of this club are already entered, and the list is not yet complete: The Adirondack, Republic, Henrietta, Wonder, Young Greek, and Empress. This is also the regular day for sailing for the Cole champion pennant.

A GAS COMPANY SOLD OUT.

The personal property of the Long Island City Gas Company was sold yesterday at public auction, subject to a mortgage of $200, for $10,750. On Tuesday next the works will be sold at Sheriff's sale, in consequence of a foreclosure made by Mr. Calvin Burt, of this City, for the non-payment of interest upon $25,000, bonds issued by the company when organized.

THE ACCIDENT AT BERGEN TUNNEL.

Henry Page, the man who said he was put off an Erie Railway train at the west end of the Bergen Tunnel on Thursday evening, died at the St. Francis Hospital at 4 o'clock yesterday morning, shortly after making his ante-mortem statement to the Coroner. The Police authorities were informed of the case on Thursday night, and yesterday morning Detective Clos arrested Peter Kline, the conductor of the train. The prisoner, upon being taken before Justice Keese, stated that he was two cars away from the one in which Pugh was at the time the accident occurred, and knew nothing of it until after it had happened. Thomas Whalen, the telegraph signal man at the west end of the tunnel, was also examined. He stated positively that he saw the man jump voluntarily from a car in the middle of the train. No evidence could be found that Pugh had been thrown or pushed off, as he had stated in his ante-mortem declaration. The examination was postponed in order to allow the authorities an opportunity to find some of the passengers who were in the train, and who might have seen what occurred.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

"UNDERMANNING."

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

The collision reported to-day in THE TIMES between the Southern Home and Bremen recalls to mind your article of Sept. 5, on "Undermanning."

In this case the Southern Home was unavoidably helpless. Her men had been stricken down by fever. But every day vessels of every class, sailing vessels and steamers, ships, barks, brigs, and schooners, leave this port about as helpless, and purposely so.

The culpable system of undermanning, caused in the main by the parsimony of ship-owners, prevails to such an extent that not one vessel in ten leaves this port sufficiently manned to be seaworthy. There are Captains who dare not properly man their vessels, lest they incur the displeasure of their employers; and in many employs it is understood that that Captain stands highest in favor who can navigate his vessel with the fewest seamen.

It is not many years since two sailors to each 100 tons register of the vessel was considered the minimum rate in manning our ships. I have sailed in a ship of 380 tons that carried ten seamen, and one of less than 600 tons that carried twelve men and six boys. I once commanded a ship of 650 tons whose complement of seamen was fourteen, and later, a ship of 960 tons whose complement was twenty seamen—by "seamen" I mean sailors "before the mast," exclusive of officers, cooks, and stewards. These figures are now reduced in many cases one-half. You mention a ship of 1,700 tons which left this port with fourteen men and four boys, and but recently a ship of nearly 900 tons arrived at this port from the West Indies with but eight seamen all told. Still more recently a large schooner arrived at this port from the West Indies carrying but two seamen! The Captain of this vessel attempted to reduce the pay of these seamen, and it came out in evidence before the United States Shipping Commissioner that the Captain and mate each with one seaman relieved each other in navigating the vessel; that the Captain and mate invariably slept in the night, (in good weather,) leaving but the solitary man on deck, and he at the helm; that at the expiration of his watch—sooner if there was any work to be done—he would lash the helm, and, leaving no one on deck, would go into the forecastle to call his shipmate. No one on deck with him to keep a lookout ahead or do any other duty in working the vessel. And these are by no means exceptional cases.

Now this undermanning means extreme peril of life and of property; it means the utter exclusion of our boys from the sea, for shipmasters obliged to go with so few, will have those few men—not boys. It means, as a consequence, the entire disappearance, with the present stock, of American shipmasters and mates from the seas, and it means also the cruel overworking of every sailor on every vessel undermanned. The few must do the work of the many. One-half of a crew is supposed alternately to rest while the other half works the vessel, but now very little can be done on a ship's deck except all hands are called to do it, and so Jack's much-needed and much-coveted four hours' "watch below" very often includes a good deal of hard work on deck. He may have to stand on duty from 8 to 12 at night, and again from 4 to 8 in the morning, but he must also be ready to respond to any call and do any work in the intermediate four hours in which he is supposed to rest. If he refuses or complains he is a mutineer, and the law can punish him.

This great and growing evil must be arrested. If neither the conscience of ship-owners, the requirements of underwriters, nor the pressure of public opinion can effect it, then the strong arm of Congress should be invoked.

IMPROVEMENT OF HARLEM RIVER.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

Do the Dock Commissioners consider the great necessity now existing on Harlem River for piers, bulkheads, &c.? Since Gen. Newton (to whom we owe much thanks) has been at work blasting and clearing Harlem River he has rendered it navigable for vessels drawing fifteen to eighteen feet of water, and yet between One Hundred and Ninth street and Harlem Bridge there is not a pier or bulkhead at which a vessel drawing ten feet of water can discharge or load. The great and valued importance of this river for supplies to the mountainous portions of Manhattan Island, and the great increase of business (see North Side Association Report) seems to be entirely overlooked by these Commissioners. We want broad and extended piers erected, where, as is now the case at foot of One Hundred and Fourteenth street, (Central,) nothing but a rotten mass of piles. This matter has frequently been brought to their notice by business men, and promises made them, "and never carried out." Will you oblige your readers by calling their attention to this now before Winter sets in? Noticing the discharge of working men on account of lack of supplies of cement, would not now be the time to start even one pier?

TWELFTH WARDER.

ROWING NOTES.

The four-oared challenge race between the Nassau and New-York Athletic Clubs comes off on the Harlem River this afternoon.

The first annual regatta of the Triton Boat Club, of Newark, will be held on the Passaic River to-day.

The two-mile challenge medal of the Gramercy Boat Club will be rowed for on the Harlem River this evening.

AN ERROR OF THE PRESS.

The Wheeling (West Va.) Intelligencer makes a needed correction, as follows: "That peculiar person known to fame as the 'intelligent compositor' made us to say yesterday that 'Parkersburg is a fooled city,' when we were endeavoring, in our pleasantest and most complimentary vein, to speak of her as a 'favored' city, in connection with the visit of Chief Justice Waite to hold court there."

THE YACHT AMERICA.

A Boston paper reports that the yacht America, on Friday night last, coming from New-York, made 240 nautical miles in sixteen hours, and during eight miles of that distance she was run under bob jib. Most of the time she was double-reefed, working splendidly.

CITY AND SUBURBAN NEWS.

NEW-YORK.

Corporation Counsel Whitney has appointed Mr. Francis L. Stetson as one of his assistants. He is a personal friend of the Mayor.

The opening lecture of the New-York College of Pharmacy will be delivered on Monday evening next by Prof. Charles F. Chandler.

A drove of wild steers broke loose from Forty-fourth street, East River, last night, but were secured before any person was injured. Three of the animals were killed by butchers.

Hon. W. W. Belknap, Secretary of War, and Capt. J. C. Meyer, of the steamer Neckar, visited the new Post Office yesterday, and were escorted through the building by Postmaster James.

A woman, supposed to be Jane Taylor, of No. 332 East Thirty-eighth street, was found suffering from fits at Thirty-third street and Madison avenue, and died soon after being removed to the Twenty-eighth Precinct.

Special excursions having ceased for the season, advantage can be taken of the regular day boats for a trip on the Hudson to West Point or Newburg. The scenery was never more attractive than at the present time.

As early as 7 o'clock yesterday morning H. B. Claflin's "print" department was crowded with eager buyers, and the cases remaining undisposed of from the sale of Thursday were quickly taken up at the prices given in yesterday's TIMES.

Early on Thursday morning Officer Landrigan arrested John Higgins, of Greenwich street, a "speculator" by trade, upon a charge of breaking into the wire-work manufactory of Charles D. Lynch, No. 88 West Broadway. Yesterday Justice Otterbourg held him to answer, fixing bail at $2,000.

The Chairman of the Tammany Committee on Discipline, Mr. William A. Boyd, who now holds the position of Corporation Attorney, appointed Major Robert M. Noah and Major James Haggerty yesterday as assistants in his bureau. Mr. Noah's salary is fixed at $3,000, and Mr. Haggerty's at $1,800.

Isaac Levins, aged six years, was run over yesterday in the arch at Barclay street, by car No. 2, of the Sixth Avenue Line, and instantly killed. The driver, Charles O'Neill, of Fifty-seventh street, between Sixth and Seventh avenues, was arrested, and locked up in the Twenty-seventh Precinct Station-house.

Thomas Moore, aged eighteen, of No. 28 Laight street, was held to answer yesterday in the Tombs Police Court on a charge of stealing a pocket-book containing $12 from Pamelia B. Freeman, of No. 38 Beach street, while she was passing through Franklin street. He was committed in default of $1,000 bail.

Emilio Giabbe, the Italian boy, residing at No. 35 Mulberry street, who was charged before United States Commissioner Shields with having attempted to pass a counterfeit $10 note, purporting to have been issued by the First National Bank of Philadelphia, was held yesterday to await the action of the United States Grand Jury.

The hearing in the John L. Brown will case was continued yesterday before Surrogate Hutchings. Dr. Thomas Cottman, called by the contesting widow, testified that the testator suffered from an affection of the brain, the result of injuries sustained from falls, and that this affection increased up to the period of the testator's death. The case was then adjourned until noon on Tuesday next.

The firm of Kattengill & Campbell, naval stores, &c., of No. 118 Leadenhall street, London, whose failure was announced on the street yesterday, had no American credits out. They gave long credits in India, Spain, and South America, which turned out badly, and two of the partners have been for some time endeavoring to make collections in the two latter countries. Their failure in nowise affects the trade here.

At the regular meeting of the German Republican Association of the Twentieth Assembly District, held on Thursday evening, a committee, consisting of Messrs. Jacob Hess, Augustus Meyer, and Herman Cantor, was appointed to confer with leaders of the Republican Party in the City for the purpose of urging them to confer with the German anti-Tammany Democrats in regard to securing the election of Republicans to the local offices.

BROOKLYN.

There were 281 deaths during the past week, being six less than the preceding week.

Ex-Justice William M. Boerum, formerly of the First District, died at his residence in Prospect place yesterday.

Justice Walsh yesterday fined a youth who said his name was Adolph Paine, and that he resided in New-York, $50 for insulting women on Fulton street.

John Connors and John Booth were committed to await the action of the Grand Jury yesterday on a charge of keeping a faro bank at No. 11 Willoughby street.

The steam-frigate Powhatan, now at the Navy-yard, is ordered to Port-au-Prince. The Hartford, flagship of the Asiatic Squadron, is daily expected to arrive either at this port or Boston.

The whereabouts of Mrs. Isabella Lockland, whose mysterious disappearance from her home in East New-York has already been reported in THE TIMES, have not yet been discovered by the Police.

William Beck was arrested yesterday, and committed by Justice Walsh, on a charge of keeping a policy shop at No. 12 Veranda place. The books and policy-slips were taken to the First Precinct Station-house.

Articles of incorporation of the Brooklyn Engineers' Protective Association were filed in the County Clerk's office yesterday. The association is for the protection of the rights of competent engineers and for mutual aid.

Louisa Reim and Hannah Lehman were committed to await the action of the Grand Jury yesterday, in default of $1,000 bail, on a charge of stealing $150 worth of lace from Mrs. Sarah Brush, of No. 38 Hanson place, in whose employ they had been as servants.

In the Court of Sessions yesterday William Farley, who has already served two terms in the State Prison, was convicted of burglary and sent to the Penitentiary for four years and six months. Lawrence Lannon, convicted of grand larceny, was sent to the same institution for one year.

WESTCHESTER COUNTY.

J. H. Adams, of Lewisboro; G. B. Hubbell, of Ossining, and Thomas McLean, of Ossining, have been appointed a Commission to appraise the valuation of the State Prison property at Sing Sing.

The recently appointed Receiver of the New-York, Boston and Montreal Railroad, has put about one hundred men to work between Highbridge and North Yonkers, to complete the construction of the road between the points indicated by the middle of October, if possible.

NEW-JERSEY.

The real name of Harry Cook, the circus rider, who died suddenly in Newark, Thursday, was William Laton.

Stephen McIrer, a brakeman, employed on the Pennsylvania Railroad, fell between two cars at an early hour yesterday morning, and was fatally injured.

Frederick Taubert, an old man sixty years of age, committed suicide at No. 112 Lillie street, Newark, yesterday afternoon, by shooting himself in the mouth.

Last night Detective Clos arrested Michael Grogan, an Erie Railway brakeman, on suspicion of being the person who pushed Henry Pugh off the train Thursday night. The prisoner, who is held to await examination, says Pugh jumped off of his own accord.

The suit of William Stuhr, who is contesting the seat of James Cunan, of Hoboken, in the Board of Freeholders, was concluded yesterday in the Supreme Circuit Court of Hudson County, Judge Knapp presiding. Up to a late hour the jury had not agreed and were locked up for the night.

James Newland, a tailor, doing business at the corner of Newark avenue and Cook streets, Jersey City Heights, committed suicide on Thursday night by swallowing a dose of poison, supposed to be strychnine. His business has been very dull lately, and he was very much depressed in consequence, having said several times that he wished he were dead. He leaves a wife and family.

BASE-BALL.

The champion Flyaway Club, of this City, and the Chelseas, of Brooklyn, played their second or return game yesterday afternoon, on the Elysian Fields, in Hoboken. A very large crowd of people, numbering many thousands, was in attendance, and much interest was manifested in the game. The Chelseas went first to the bat, and, notwithstanding their opponents hold the championship of this vicinity, they had an easy time in defeating them, making more runs in a single inning than the Flyaways made in the entire game. Only eight innings were played, at the close of which the game was won by the Chelseas, by a score of 18 to 4. The first game between these two clubs was also won by the Chelseas, by a score of 8 to 7.

A game will be played on the Union Grounds this afternoon, between the Atlantic Club, of Brooklyn, and the Mutuals, of this City.

There will be a game on the Capitoline Grounds this afternoon, between the Concords, of Brooklyn, and the Enterprise Club, of Hempstead, Long Island. The Equitable Club, of this City, and the Winonas, of Flatbush, Long Island, will also play there at the same time.

The Nameless Club, of Brooklyn, and the Produce Exchange Club, of this City, will play a game on the Prospect Park Grounds this afternoon.

This afternoon the Hobokens and the Consolidated Nine of Brooklyn will play on the Elysian Fields, Hoboken.

The Mutuals, of New-York, defeated the Olympics at a game of base-ball in Paterson Depot, N. J., yesterday, by a score of 14 to 7.

PRAYER-MEETING AT THE NORTH BAPTIST CHURCH.

At the regular Friday evening prayer-meeting of the North Baptist Church, held at No. 126 Christopher street yesterday evening, Mr. George S. Weeks was present, by invitation, for the purpose of conducting the singing. Mr. Brouner, Pastor of the church, introduced Mr. Weeks to the meeting as the companion of Messrs. Moody and Sankey in their work in Europe. This, however, is an error that Mr. Weeks is very desirous should be corrected, as he did not go to Europe in company with those gentlemen. He was engaged in an entirely separate and distinct work. Fifteen or twenty minutes of the latter part of the evening were devoted to the singing of a few of the most popular of the hymns sung by Mr. Sankey in England. Mr. Weeks is a remarkable singer, possessing a very powerful tenor voice of great richness and sweetness. After the prayer-meeting was dismissed, at least half those present lingered for another hour or so listening to the singing of Mr. Weeks. The gentleman is making arrangements to continue the "Sunday" work among the children of New-York, which he made so successful in Europe.
